THE KAISER MADE AN OFFER OF PEACE

King of Denmark Conveyed His Proposal to Russian Government

GALICIA FOR PART OF PROVINCE OF POLAND

Russia's Reply Was That She Would Not Consider Peace

London, Aug. 9.—Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd says:

"The Bourse Gazette learns from an unimpeachable source that the German emperor made an offer of peace to Russia last week through the king of Denmark. The answer sent to the king stated that the question of peace negotiations could not be raised at the present time."

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—The report that Germany has made peace proposals to Russia became known in official circles here several days ago and was discussed freely in the lobbies of the Duma, according to the Vecherne Vremya.

"We learn on good authority," says the newspaper, "that Germany, through Denmark, proposed to Russia a separate peace, Russia to receive Galicia, while Germany would retain the western district of Poland.

"A representative of the foreign office categorically denied that there was the remotest possibility of any peace negotiations. In the lobbies of the Duma the proposal was dismissed as unworthy of serious consideration."

RUSSIANS TAKING UP NEW POSITIONS

New Line is One of Great Strength; Germans Repulsed in West

London, Aug. 9.—Grand Duke Nicholas' forces still were engaged to-day in taking up new positions of great strength back of the second line of defences.

Vienna alleged that the Russian line on the Wieprz river had been pierced north of Lublin and the retirement of the Russians was endangered. Petrograd announced that the Wieprz river forces were maintaining an unbroken front and retreating methodically, after having held General von Mackenzen long enough to permit the Russian advance guard to reach the second line.

Berlin reports tended to corroborate the Russian statement of an orderly retreat, announcement of von Mackenzen's movements being confined to the bare statement that he now was advancing northward rapidly, while General von Buelow, temporarily abandoning the movement against Riga, turned his attention to the Warsaw-Petrograd railroad. No intimation was given in the report that the Russian line was in particular peril.

The Austrian claim was discounted by military critics here as founded, perhaps upon a local success of no great significance when considered in connection with the safety of the main Russian forces. It was not believed that Grand Duke Nicholas had been offering real resistance at the point mentioned in the Austrian announcement, but had chosen rather to use a relatively small force in further delaying and hampering the Teutons' attempts to advance.

Further reports of the outcome of events in the region occupied by von Buelow were awaited here with keen interest.

Interest was directed again toward the western front also, Paris reporting the Germans as having attacked at several points along the line. The German assaults have been unproductive, and it is plain that the allies are sufficiently strong to withstand any force which the Germans can bring against them. Developments in the eastern theatre seem to preclude all probability of any extensive shift in strength by the enemy for some time to come.

Italian reports are encouraging. Gorizia apparently will come into possession of the Italians shortly, judging from Rome's statement. The Italians are engaged at smashing down the Austrian defences to a point where an advance in a chosen direction, in this case, toward Trieste, can be made.

Taken as a whole, the situation contains much that is encouraging.

WARSAW LIBRARY.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—It has been learned that the library of the University of Warsaw could not be removed in time to prevent its falling into the hands of the Germans.

ALPINE TROOPS WON ANOTHER VICTORY

Drove Austrians From Montozzo Pass, in the Tyrolean Alps

GORIZIA CAN NOT HOLD OUT FOR LONG

Refugees Declare It Will Fall Within a Few Days

Rome, Aug. 9.—The Italians have driven the Austrians from the pass of Montozzo and occupied the Austrian positions, according to an official statement issued from the war office to-day.

The victory, which is regarded here as of far-reaching importance, was accomplished mainly through the efforts of the Alpine troops, who dragged artillery up to a height of 10,000 feet in the Tyrolean Alps and from that elevated point of vantage poured an irresistible fire into the Austrian trenches.

Rome, Aug. 9.—Gorizia practically has been destroyed by Italian artillery, according to announcement made here to-day. The streets are filled with debris and the remaining 10,000 of Gorizia's normal population of 40,000 are living in cellars.

The defence is getting noticeably feeble, the Italian artillery preventing replenishment of ammunition and supplies.

Rome, Aug. 9.—The Idea Nazionale's correspondent at Udine wires that refugees from Gorizia report that conditions there are terrible. The Austrians' hopes of a resistance have fled, these refugees say, and the city can hold out only a few days longer. Lawlessness is rampant in the city.

The stores of munitions have been expended and the warehouses are empty. Wheat, bread and meat are unobtainable.

DECLINED TO ALLOW AMMUNITION TO PASS

Milan, Italy, Aug. 9.—A dispatch from Bucharest to the Corriere Della Sera says that following the departure of Prince von Hoehnlohe-Langeburg, the German ambassador to Turkey, from the Roumanian capital, a representative of the Krupp gun works arrived at Bucharest and offered the Roumanian government 36 batteries of artillery, with ammunition, and 2,000,000 pounds of barbed wire if Roumania would allow ammunition destined for Turkey to pass through. Following the intervention of the British minister at Bucharest, the newspaper says, the offer was refused.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 9.—H. C. Myles, diplomatic agent of the British government, was notified to-day of forced loans asked of Crabtree Brothers at Gomez Palacio, in Chihuahua state, and Purcell & Company, of Saltillo, Coahuila, cotton dealers in the Villa territory. The amounts demanded were not made public.

TO WEST FRONT OR THE DARDANELLES

Italian Officer Says His Country Has 650,000 Soldiers Ready

New York, Aug. 9.—Italy will send 650,000 fresh troops either to France or the Dardanelles within the next three weeks, according to Capt. Victor del Franctis, of the Italian army, who arrived to-day on the steamship Duca d'Aosta.

"There were 500,000 soldiers in Turin when I left," said Capt. del Franctis, "and 150,000 more in Taranto, the naval base. Between 150 and 200 large transports were ready to convey the troops to where they are needed most."

The captain will purchase leather goods for the Italian army, and expects to visit numerous New England factories.

ALIENS MUST REPORT IN THE BRITISH ISLES

London, Aug. 9.—The British foreign office notified the American embassy in London to-day that Americans resident in the United Kingdom, as well as all aliens, will be subject to registration under the British national registration act. New arrivals henceforth will be allowed twenty-eight days in which to report themselves.

This does not mean that Americans will be pressed into the national service in any capacity, but bespeaks a desire on the part of the government to check all persons in the United Kingdom.

GEN. GOETHALS HAS SENT IN RESIGNATION

New York, Aug. 9.—General George W. Goethals arrived from Cristobal today and announced when the vessel docked that he had sent his resignation as governor of the canal zone to Washington to take effect November 1. He said he would not resign from the army.

REVENUE CUTTER SUNK; THE CREW WAS SAVED

London, Aug. 9.—The British revenue cutter Lowestoft has been sunk by a German submarine, according to official announcement here to-day. The crew was saved.

Turkish Battleship Sent to Bottom by British Submarine

Constantinople, Aug. 9.—The Turkish battleship Hairredin Barbarosse was torpedoed and sunk to-day by a British submarine in the Sea of Marmora.

The official statement telling of the loss of the battleship says:

"The loss of the Barbarosse, which was sunk this morning, however regrettable in itself, does not affect us excessively except that it places the strength of our fleet, compared with that of the enemy, in the ratio of one to ten."

The Hairredin Barbarosse displaced 11,089 tons, and was armed with six 11-inch guns, eight 4.1-inch guns, eight 15½ pounders and two torpedo tubes. She carried a crew of 579 men. It is not known how many of these perished.

The battleship originally was the German battleship Kurfurst Friedrich Wilhelm, built at Stettin, Germany, in 1891. She was purchased by Turkey in 1910.

ROUMANIA CALLS THREE CLASSES OF RESERVES

Milan, Aug. 9.—Roumania has called three classes of reserves to the colors, according to a dispatch received here to-day from Bucharest.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The Bucharest correspondent of the Petit Parisien, sends the following dispatch, dated August 5, but delayed in transmission:

"The cabinet has approved the new extraordinary credit of 100,000,000 francs ($20,000,000) for military purposes. The Roumanian minister at Paris has been called to Bucharest for consultation."

BLANKS DISTRIBUTED TO BE RETURNED BY SUNDAY

London, Aug. 9.—Under the direction of Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and Rt. Hon. Dayid Lloyd George, minister of munitions, the registration act passed last month at the request of the British cabinet became effective to-day. Blanks were distributed to all males between the ages of 15 and 65 years. These must be filled out and returned before next Sunday. The blanks contain questions regarding age, health and occupation.

THE ENEMY FAILED AND LOST HEAVILY

Attack Made on French Positions in Vosges Was Repulsed

ATTEMPT LED TO VERY VIOLENT FIGHTING

Germans Driven From Greater Part of Ground They Took in Argonne

Paris, Aug. 9.—Fighting of extreme violence took place on Saturday in the Vosges mountains in consequence of a German attack. The official French announcement of yesterday said this attack had been repulsed. The statement was as follows:

"In the Argonne late on Saturday the Germans penetrated one of our position in a salient in the western part of the forest of Fontaine Houyette. They were driven back and maintained themselves in a lookout post in advance of our first line. During the night the Germans attacked in the sector of Lafille. They obtained a footing in one of our trenches, but were ejected immediately, except on a front of 30 yards.

"In the Vosges a German attack in the afternoon attained extreme violence. It was directed against our positions at Lingekopf and Schratmanele and the neck of land which separates these two heights. Our assailants were repulsed and suffered heavy losses. Before the portion of the front held by only one of our companies the corpses of more than 100 Germans remained in the network of our entanglements."

Dunkirk, France, Aug. 9.—The bombardment of Dunkirk by the giant German gun operating from Flanders permits the carrying on of the business of the city four and a half minutes out of every five.

There is only one gun being used in this bombardment and the shells come regularly every five minutes. The people of the town take advantage of the intervals between explosions to transact business, allowing themselves about half a minute to make for their cellars.

WILL BE ACCEPTED DESPITE PROTESTS

Men Who Wish to Enlist Will Encounter No Barrier; Regulations Changed

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—All restrictions upon recruiting which hitherto have been in force have been abolished by the government upon the advice of the militia council. No longer will a man be prevented from enlisting because his wife objects. No longer will the parents of a minor have power to stop him enlisting if he desires. No longer will discharge be granted on receipt of $15 to men who change their minds and desire to leave the forces. All such conditions have been wiped out.

"We are at war," said Senator Lougheed, acting minister of militia, in explaining this morning, "and we have decided to adopt the same regulations in connection with recruiting as the British have in force."

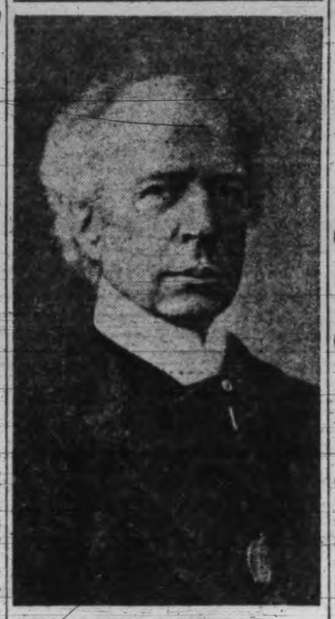
In the past the department has been bothered with protests from the wives of men who had joined, and these protests had to be recognized. As a result of such protests it is estimated that several hundred men who gathered at Valcartier were sent home. The provision also was subject to many abuses, and in a considerable number of cases men put forward their wives as a shelter behind which to excuse their own desire to leave after having enlisted. In other cases many have excused their failure to enlist by the remark made in a tone of resignation that their wives would not allow them to go and that it was useless to enlist, as their wives immediately thereafter would protest to the authorities and procure their discharge.

In the past, minors between the ages of 18 and 21 required the consent of their parents before they could enlist. If a protest came from the parents after a minor had enlisted his discharge would be granted. In future if a man is of military age, that is between 18 and 38, nobody can interfere with his joining the colors.

In the past a man who had enlisted could purchase, with consent of his commanding officer, his discharge for the sum of $15. There were cases where men joined one day and changed their minds the next. There were other cases where men who had joined grew tired of the discipline enforced upon them and desired to leave the ranks.

In future discharge will not be purchasable and a man, once he has joined, will be there to stay for the duration of the war. Desertion will be dealt with by court-martial.

SOUNDED CALL TO DUTY: SIR WILFRID LAURIER



STIRRING SPEECH BY LIBERAL LEADER

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Tendered a Welcome by People of His Birthplace

SPOKE OF CANADIANS' DUTY DURING THE WAR

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—Revisiting the home of his boyhood in the quaint old village of St. Lin, nestling in the shelter of the Laurentians, Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Saturday received a great welcome from an assemblage of five thousand people. In response he gave to the great gathering an address the dominating theme of which was that of Canada's duty in the present war.

In the illuminated address presented to him by the parish, reference was made to his "distinguished and unblemished career." It concluded with the prayer that he might long be spared in health and strength to further the great principles for which he always had stood—those of "justice, tolerance, and liberty."

That gave the keynote to Sir Wilfrid in the stirring speech of a little over an hour in which he urged his compatriots of the province of Quebec to recognize that in the great war that Canada now was engaged in with the rest of the empire and with old France these were the very principles which were at stake, and that to all Canadians equally came the call to fight beneath the colors.

"If I were young enough myself," he declared, "I, too, would be in the firing line and share the honor and the privilege of fighting for those things for which the Union Jack stands—justice, tolerance and liberty. For these things I have worked all my life. I shall do so to the end for as long as God spares me."

SIR ROBERT BORDEN AT BRISTOL TO-DAY

Bristol, Eng., Aug. 9.—Sir Robert Borden was received at Bristol to-day with every sign of honor. Accompanied by Sir George Perley, and R. B. Bennett, M.P., the prime minister of Canada was received at Temple Mead by Sir Frank Willis, who was introduced to him when visiting Canada four years ago. The party was driven in the state carriage with a mounted escort to the council house, where it was received by Alderman John Swaish, the lord mayor. The proceedings here, though brief, were most enthusiastic. Lunch was taken afterwards and later Sir Robert visited the wounded Canadian soldiers at Bristol infirmary and at South Mead.

SWEDISH STEAMSHIP SUNK BY GERMANS

Copenhagen, Aug. 9.—The Swedish steamship Mai has been sunk by a German submarine. One boat containing seven men and a woman has been picked up and landed here. A second boat carrying the captain and nine men is missing.

Available shipping records do not contain the name of a Swedish steamship Mai or of a vessel of any other nationality by that name.

GERMANS FORCED TO EVACUATE BAUSKE

Have Fallen Back From That Point in Courland to Mitau

OPINION OF MILITARY CRITICS AT PETROGRAD

Operations in Eastern Arena and at Dardanelles Hold Chief Interest

Petrograd Aug. 9.—The Germans have evacuated Bauske Courland and have retreated to Mitau according to an official announcement given out here today.

Military critics here say that this indicated that the enemy's Baltic campaign has failed.

London Aug. 9.—Russia as her allies knew she would has rejected what in the British Isles is regarded as a bona fide proposal made by the German emperor for peace with a part of Poland to be traded for Galicia. The great struggle in the east continues and as there is no indication of an immediate general offensive by either side in the west the struggle of the Russian forces to shake themselves free of the Austro-German grip remains the chief factor in the war news with an added interest in the operations at the Dardanelles.

The Gallipoli field will be watched closely because its possible bearing on the Balkan situation again is simmering by reason of renewed pressure by the Quadruple Entente on Bulgaria and Greece. Never before has the importance of the operations at the Dardanelles been realized more keenly in Great Britain and France than now, especially as there are many indications that Germany plans to deliver her next hard blow at Serbia in order to attempt to link up with Turkey and thus checkmate the spring plans of the Entente powers.

It is increasingly manifest that Germany looks to the east for a settlement of the war. If she could overrun Serbia she would occupy a favorable strategic position to invoke Bulgaria's passive or active aid in reaching Constantinople along the main line. The expectation of such a move doubtless has brought renewed negotiations between the Entente allies and Bulgaria.

As usual the Turks claim successes in the recent trench warfare on the Gallipoli Peninsula, but there really has been no noteworthy change in the situation so far as the public is aware.

The Austro-Germans claim that they still are making progress both to the northeast and to the southeast of Warsaw, and the Austro-Hungarians claim to have cut in two the Russian forces which retired from the Lublin-Cholm railroad.

GAINS IN KAMERUN REPORTED BY FRENCH

Bitam, Moopa, Mombi and Gadji Captured, Says Official Statement

Paris, Aug. 9.—Encircling operations by French troops against German forces in Kamerun, a German colony in West Africa, have resulted in further successes, according to an official statement issued by the ministry of the colonies here to-day. The statement says:

"Encircling operations by French forces in south and east Kamerun are proceeding successfully. On July 17 columns from the south took Bitam, which the enemy evacuated during the night, thus completing the conquest of that part of the Congo ceded to Germany in 1911.

"On July 23 columns operating in the east stormed the post of Moopa, forcing the enemy to retire on Mombi, which in turn was captured four days later. Reconnoitring detachments were dispatched immediately against Nganela Nyassi.

"Our troops are displaying great activity on the Gadji-Beri Bimba front. Gadji, after a violent combat, was evacuated by the Germans."

HUNS MADE USE OF ASPHYXIATING GAS

Carried Works Near Ossowetz but Were Dislodged; Attack on Kovno

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—Attacks upon the fortresses of Kovno and Ossowetz by the German forces were told of in the official statement issued here on Saturday night. The works of Sosna, part of the Ossowetz fortress, were stormed on Friday under cover of gas, but the Germans were dislodged by counter-attacks.

Kovno is the capital of the province of Kovno. It is a fortress of the first class. Ossowetz, also strongly fortified, is about 50 miles northeast of Warsaw on the Narew river, and about the same distance southwest of Kovno.

The text of the statement follows:

"Between the Drina and the Niemen rivers the fighting continued on Friday without any important change of front.

"Near Kovno the enemy attacked the positions of the first line of fortresses on the left of the Niemen. Our heavy batteries are bombarding them vigorously.

"Near Ossowetz the enemy at dawn on Friday developed an intense fire, and, launching great clouds of asphyxiating gas, began an assault on the fortress positions. He carried works near Sosna, but was dislodged by our fire and by a counter-attack.

"On the Narew there was desperate fighting. On the roads to Ostrov the enemy on Friday, after a series of sanguinary collisions, succeeded in progressing somewhat and extending the ground which he had occupied. Desperate attacks in the Serock region on the previous evening were repulsed successfully.

"On the Vistula there was a cannonade. Our heavy artillery successfully counter-attacked the work of pontoon parties on the Vistula during Thursday night.

"Between the Vistula and the Bug rivers most desperate actions were fought in the direction of Kurow to Kotsk and in the region of the right bank of the Wieprz river north of Leczna."

BLEW UP TWO GUNS; TRENCH WAS TAKEN

Italian Officer Set Off Dynamite After He Had Been Wounded

Rome, Aug. 9.—War is the same all the world over. Men find tragedy and comedy in it, whether on the plains of Flanders and northern France or among the mountains of the Trentino or the valley of the Isonzo. For weeks now the Italians have been in the trenches at Podgora, to the west of Goriza. They have had their nightly searchlight battles, turning the powerful rays of their reflectors on to each other to neutralize their effect midway between the trenches, much to the amusement of the occupants on both sides.

A regular jockeying for searchlight positions generally results in one being brought into use at a point which enables a hurried flash being swept along the opposing front and the desired information being secured, namely, that the enemy still is there and is not preparing a night attack.

In the particular trench facing the advanced position of the Italians near Goriza the principal defence for the last month has been two machine-guns. The other night, when the searchlight succeeded in reconnoitring it, what was the surprise of the Italians to find that two field guns had been mounted between dusk and midnight. Did this mean an attack at dawn? The soldiers in the Podgora trenches were warned, and stood to arms for the rest of the night.

At dawn a lieutenant crawled out of the trench to try and obtain a closer look at the two new arrivals. For two hours he was absent, but no anxiety was felt for his safety, as he was known to be an expert scout, and was as lithe as a snake amongst the rocks and hillocks with which the country abounds. Suddenly he tore back to the shelter of the trench followed by a hail of bullets. He had accomplished his mission without being seen, and it was only when he had to jump over the wire entanglements of his own defences that the enemy spotted him and opened fire on him, hastening his return.

He jumped into the trench roaring with laughter, and when he told his comrades that the two guns were only painted wood they joined in the merriment. A notice was drawn up and posted in the trench:

"Messrs. Blank, of Milan, whose representative, Sergt.-Major De Falso, can be found in this trench, are willing to supply guns of any calibre in cardboard or papiermache. Prices reasonable. Orders may be placed at any battery."

This was only half a joke so long as it remained on our side, so news of the discovery was sent back to the aeroplane park, with copies of the notice, which an airman, in the course of his reconnaissance of the enemy's position, dropped in his lines later in the day.

But the lieutenant had made another important discovery. The enemy had brought up two more machine guns, and these were concealed in an outwork in advance of the trenches. A council of war was held. So cunningly were the mitrailleuses hidden that the artillerymen had to confess that they despaired of the success of an attempt to blow them to pieces by shell fire.

A captain volunteered to blow them up. Tying a couple of dynamite cartridges around his waist, he commenced to crawl along the path that the lieutenant had followed in the early morning.

Three hours passed. Everybody was on the tip-toe of excitement and expectation. Suddenly the noise of a distant explosion rolled across the valley. Soon after the sergeant who had accompanied the captain came back. The two machine guns had been put out of action—but the captain would never return.

The stealthy approach to the enemy's gun emplacement had been watched by the sergeant. He had seen the captain wait his opportunity until the sentinel had passed from the emplacement to where the wooden guns were mounted, and dallied there, perhaps exchanging jokes with the guards mounted over these on the impression that their presence was likely to make on the Italians.

He was digging a hole with his hands to put the cartridges well under the guns when the sentinel saw him, and fired with such good aim that the captain rolled over wounded. But he still had the energy left to apply the fuse and fire it. One machine gun was blown to pieces, the other rendered useless. In the torn-up ground, though, was stretched the dead body of the heroic officer.

Early the same afternoon, with this menacing outwork removed, a forward Italian move was ordered. The capture of the trench was the objective. Fired with the example of their captain, who had given his life to make the task of his men more easy, the Italian infantry raced towards the parapet and drove the defenders out at the point of the bayonet.

VON JAGOW CHARGED WITH TWO BLUNDERS

London, Aug. 9.—The correspondent at Amsterdam of the Exchange Telegraph company has learned from Berlin that although the forthcoming resignation of Gottlieb von Jagow, the German foreign secretary will be attributed to ill-health, the real reason will be to two bunders, the first being the Austro-Hungarian note to the United States regarding the exportation of munitions, which was sent to Washington without consultation with Jagow, and the second being the revelation contained in the Belgian gray book that Herr von Jagow urged the division of the Belgian Congo between Germany and France.

WHAT ORGANIZATION HAS DONE FOR ITALY

Equipment of Her Forces is Complete in Every Detail

London, Aug. 9.—G. M. Trevelyan, author of "Garibaldi and the Making of Italy," writes in the Daily Chronicle:

It generally has been thought, and I conferr I share the belief, that organization was not a strong point with the Italians. This did not make any of us like them the less, for nations often have a way of being lovable in inverse proportion to their power of organization—witness the Irish. But to-day we find in the Italian army how fine a work of organization has been accomplished. The ten months while Italy was neutral were employed in organizing, with equally remarkable secrecy and speed, a perfect military machine. It was known that Italy was preparing, but how extensively was a well-kept secret.

To-day she has no lack of high explosives or of anything else, down to masks against poisoned gas, which a close study of the war in other parts of Europe has shown to be necessary. The credit generally is divided between Signor Salandra, the prime minister; General Cadorna, the chief of staff, and Zupelli, the minister for war. These three have shown themselves to be great men in this work of preparation and foresight, a work which the British to-day are in a position to estimate at its just worth, and no longer to regard as a matter of course.

General Cadorna, by the way, is not commander-in-chief, but chief of staff. The king is commander-in-chief. Vittorio Emmanuele III. daily is winning for himself the love of his soldiers. With ceaseless activity he rushes from point to point at the front, appearing where he is least expected, to share a hasty meal with the officers and go round to say to the men a few words of sympathy and encouragement, often under fire. A democrat and a gentleman, he does not, like the kaiser, allow any one to worship him as a god, but talks to people as one human being to another. The Casa Savoia has nine representatives at the front by land and sea, including every man or boy of that fighting race old enough so much as to enlist as a private soldier. People like this. A high church dignitary amused and delighted his company the other day by crying out in his enthusiasm, "Sempre avanti! Savoia!"

General Cadorna seems to be an Italian Joffre. He has not been so fiercely tested as yet, and I do not mean to put any general in this war on a level with the great Frenchman. But I mean that Cadorna has obtained over a susceptible nation the same kind of imaginative hold that Joffre has obtained, by the same scientific coldness. Like Joffre, Cadorna hates politics in war, talk, excitement and humbug of all sorts. Organization and discipline are his instruments, and he has given the country a quiet confidence in slowly maturing results, which is just what every country must have in order to endure this long and terrible war of exhaustion.

Not that Cadorna is slow to strike; far otherwise. For one recalls the rapid seizure of the innumerable passes of the Trentine and Carnic Alps in the first days of the war, before the Austrians had got their men up from Galicia. As it was, the Austrians were ready on the Isonzo. But I am sure that the political crisis of May is not a thing to be regretted, for it compelled the people of Italy to decide and pronounce for themselves on the issue of peace or war. It is the people's war, made at their demand.

The national enthusiasm is the greater for that, and the chance of a reaction less. Besides those called out by conscription, 200,000 volunteers enlisted before voluntary recruiting was stopped by the authorities. Persons who have been called up for service but assigned to civilian instead of military functions, as clerks, railwaymen or workers at munitions wear a blue band around their arms. Even now there are plenty of young men about the streets, I am glad to say. Italy has a great reserve of men. And she has less to fear for her race from the losses of this war than any other great nation except Russia, for her birth rate is natural and high. Little children not only are loved in Italy, but they are plentiful. Perhaps it was from an unconscious sense of the strength of her reproductiveness that Italy entered with such calm cheerfulness on a war of which she has been watching the waste and the horrors for ten months with a saddened and penetrative attention.

There is a notable absence of "tall stories" from the front in Italian talk and in the Italian press. The stories, perfectly reasonable and unsensational, of course emphasize the courage and endurance of the troops about which there is no shadow of doubt, and markedly also their humanity. Stories of the kind treatment of Austrian prisoners and wounded are told everywhere, in spite of the use in many cases of explosive bullets by the enemy. All stories, some told to me by eyewitnesses of high military standing, emphasize the excellence of the Italian artillery and its superiority to the Austrian. The natural and artificial strength of the enemy's prepared positions on the Isonzo alone renders progress slow.

There is a great development of trained nursing by Italian ladies. This began during the earthquakes of recent years and the war in Tripoli. It now is a great movement of the day and a valuable step forward in Italian life, where women nurses, till recently, have been notable by their absence. Nursing is still, I believe, the least developed part of the excellent Italian Red Cross, at least if judged by our British standards, which lay perhaps more stress on nursing than does any other nation in Europe.

Another development, and an entirely new one, is the Blue Cross—the Croce Azzurra—for the saving of horses in the war. Fortunately for its prospect of success it makes a utilitarian, not a merely humanitarian, appeal; for there is liable to be a shortage of horses in Italy, as in other lands, before this terrible war is over.

ALLIED POWERS IN FULL CO-OPERATION

Public Discussion of Plans Being Worked Out Would Upset Them

London, Aug. 9.—Mr. Asquith, tired of the heckling he has undergone from members of parliament, who perhaps, unconsciously, have been earning Iron Crosses by discussing on the floor of the House of Commons subjects which, if revealed by members of the Reichstag, would lead to prompt work by a firing squad, certainly will not need the appeal of the Times. Russia knows what Britain and France propose to do and will know more within a week what the programme of her allies in the west is. But that programme will not be discussed publicly until there is no chance of its benefiting Berlin.

The correspondent is assured by a member of the cabinet that there is a perfect understanding between the powers of the Quadruple Entente, and that the government does not propose to have it ruptured by the forces that bitterly but unsuccessfully attacked Lord Kitchener and Mr. Asquith because they would not allow certain newspapers to dictate the conduct of the war.

TURKS ADMIT THAT THEY LOST GROUND

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—A land and sea attack on the Turkish positions on Gallipoli peninsula is announced in an official communication issued at Constantinople, as received here yesterday. The Turkish war office admits the loss of ground, but asserts that in another engagement the Turks captured trenches from the allies.

COUNT OKUMA WILL REMAIN IN OFFICE

Men Who Will Be Members of New Japanese Cabinet

Tokio, Aug. 9.—Count Okuma virtually has decided, at the special request of the emperor, to remain in office as prime minister, and has arranged the following cabinet:

Prime minister and minister of for- Kato, minister of war, Lieut.-General finance, Tokitoshi Taketomi; minister of marine, Vice-Admiral Tomosaburo Kato; minister of war, Lieut.-Generals Ichinosuke Oku; minister of justice, Yuki Oosaki; minister of communications, Katsundo Minoura, or Viscount Masakata Sengoku; minister of commerce and agriculture, Hironaka Kono; minister of education, S. Takata; minister of the interior, Kitokuro Ichiki.

The assumption of Count Okuma of the portfolio of foreign affairs, following the refusal of Takaaki Kato to retain that portfolio, is to be temporary, pending the selection of a permanent minister.

It became known on Saturday night that the emperor had requested Count Okuma to remain in office and that Count Okuma had agreed provisionally to do so. His acceptance was contingent upon the construction of a cabinet acceptable to him, and yesterday announcement was made of his arrangements of the cabinet.

The association of Okuma supporters has sent circulars throughout the country, urging that support be accorded Premier Okuma on the ground that his ideal is to make Japan a nation of foremost rank, capable of competing with the most powerful countries. The count, the circulars say, resigned because the allegations of election bribery created a situation repugnant to one of his lofty principles, but nevertheless he was unwilling to be a cause of concern to the emperor, who had asked him to remain in office.

Notwithstanding the pressure brought to bear on Count Okuma to retain his place, differences of opinion have sprung up among his supporters. The leaders of the Osaka branch of the Okuma organization sent a telegram to the prime minister urging him to insist upon retiring.

The appointments for the war, justice and commerce portfolios are the same as in the cabinet which resigned on July 30 in consequence of charges of election irregularities affecting members of the government. Vice-Admiral Kato, named for minister of marine, was Admiral Togo's chief of staff in the battle of the Sea of Japan and last year was appointed commander-in-chief of the first Japanese squadron.

M. Takatomi, selected for minister of finance, was minister of communications in the retired cabinet, and M. Ichiki, named as minister of the interior, was minister of education. M. Minoura, whose name is mentioned for the ministry of communications, has held several public offices and is editor of the Hochi Shimbun. Viscount Sengoku, alternative choice for this place, is a member of the house of peers and a manufacturer, and formerly was secretary of the home office. M. Takata, designated minister of education, is head of Waseda university and a member of the higher educational council.

FURTHER PROGRESS ON CARSO PLATEAU

Italians Made Advance and Captured 140 Prisoners; Report Issued at Rome.

Rome, Aug. 9.—The following official communication was given out here on Saturday night:

"In the Plava sector our troops are establishing themselves in the conquered positions. The enemy, during the night of August 6-7, tried two attacks on them, supported by the fire of numerous groups of artillery, which were combatted by ours and reduced to silence. Both attacks were repulsed.

"On the Carso plateau a stubborn struggle which lasted all day yesterday was decided towards evening by the material success of our arms, especially in the centre, where we captured part of the depression descending toward Doberdo, and took 140 prisoners.

"On the right wing the enemy artillery fired incendiary bombs on the depots of Monfalcone, succeeding in starting a big fire, and by violent artillery salvos tried to stop our detachments which sought to extinguish the fire. Nevertheless, the dash and energy of our troops enabled them, after a time, to confine the fire and to limit considerably the damage."

The Malmland was of 3,779 tons gross and was owned at Gothenburg.

GERMAN HAD RIFLE; LOSES HIS FREEDOM

Wm. Ihlau Lived on Ranch Near Powell River; Others Taken in Charge

Vancouver, Aug. 9.—With a Ross rifle hidden under a fallen log a mile from his cabin and a bayonet concealed above the door, a German reservist near Powell River, Wilhelm Ihlau, has deceived the authorities for some time. He handed over an ancient rifle at the commencement of the war, declaring it was the only weapon he had. Recently as the outcome of a fist fight and recriminations following a dispute at a school meeting, it became known that Ihlau had a Ross rifle cached away in the bush. Provincial Constable Lister at once arrested the man, and had him show the place where the rifle was hidden.

Ihlau, who is an active and very loud-spoken German rancher, is only about 25 years of age, and in the short time he has been in the Powell River district has given a good deal of trouble. He had a narrow escape some time ago owing to his failure to report as an enemy alien. On Saturday, however, he was handed over to the military authorities to be interned until the end of the war, and his rifle has been confiscated.

Along with Ihlau, there were brought to the city from Powell River another German, Henry Holms, a paper finisher, and two Austrians, Jack Yaksa and Iko Hudlma. It was only a few days since the two latter had reached Powell River, where they came under the notice of Immigration Inspector Bantiam and Provincial Constable Lister, who rounded up the men and brought them south with Ihlau and his companion.

CALLS UPON WOMEN OF FRANCE TO BE BRAVE

Mme. de Witt-Schlumberger, Champion of Woman Suffrage, Issues Appeal

Paris, Aug. 9.—Mme. de Witt-Schlumberger, one of the foremost champions of woman suffrage in France, has addressed to her countrywomen the following appeal, which was published in the Figaro:

"To the French women:

"Women of France, a limited number of leaves of absence will be granted by and by, to the soldiers at the front, as the requirements of the national defence may permit. Some of us finally will have with us again, for a few days, our sons, sweethearts and brothers. Our hearts are leaping with joy at the news. Once more eyes will gaze tenderly into eyes, hearts will beat against hearts, little children grown big and babies born since the great mobilization will be shown with pride to their fathers. And so much there will be to tell one another, things which one cannot express in writing. What bliss to be together again, what rapturous joy at being reunited!

"Women of France, we all, who are sisters in the love of our country and in our duties toward the national defence, should not forget that we will be put to a hard test. Let us remember that the whole world will be able to judge of the quality of soul and valor of spirit animating us. It will learn from the way in which we receive our soldiers and abuse all, from the manner in which we again see them go, whether we are women worthy of France or only poor, ordinary loving beings, women not deserving to be the mothers of French soldiers, sisters without courage and sweethearts without moral fortitude. The happy return of our soldiers is of such moment that it is not any too early to give it some consideration to put us on our guard against any possible weakness.

"We surely have no reason at all to expect any but good results from these visits to the families. The attitude of the French women since the commencement of the war, their courage and their devotion are a safe guarantee that they will meet this new responsibility with equally brave spirits. The soldiers will come to us from the front full of courage and vim. This we have learned from the wounded whom we have nursed and through the letters we have received. Shall we see them, after a few days, go back to their post fortified by the tenderness which they had been having so long, or shall we weaken them by our tears and our plaints?

"Our responsibility will be overwhelming, and the firmness of soul of the women may be of a determining influence. Let us not forget that our attitude of mind will be reflected in our appearance and in our words and that our faintness of heart, no less than our nobler feelings, may find echo in the hearts of our soldiers.

"Remember, then, we have no right to show weakness and that inspiring tenderness bears witness of a greater love than do softening caresses. Our soldiers must not be betrayed in this regard. Any woman who would, in the present circumstances belittle at home the sense of duty toward our country would be a criminal. When one is fighting not only for one's country but for the principles of right and justice in the world, that duty should be looked upon, not as a heavy burden, but as an honor and a cause for joy.

"Women of France, my sisters, we shall undertake to face with equanimity and without recriminations the reunion so long hoped for. We shall realize that our wishes, no matter how legitimate, must be subordinate to the needs of the national defence. We shall know how to shoulder all our responsibilities. We shall be worthy of the urgent and sublime duty which is incumbent upon us.

"President of the French Association for Woman Suffrage."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN HAYTI IMPROVING

Washington, Aug. 9.—Administration officials were encouraged to-day over the latest developments in the Haytien situation. This optimism was based upon reports from Rear-admiral Caperton, in charge of the American forces in Hayti, saying that business conditions throughout the island were improving, due to renewed confidence on the part of native officials as to the intentions of the United States towards the country, and that comparative quiet prevailed.

Admiral Caperton also reported the taking over of the customs offices at Cape Haytien and the postponement of the presidential election because of the time was deemed inopportune for political excitement.

The election was to have been held yesterday.

MALADMINISTRATION IS THE REAL CAUSE

Parker Williams, M. P. P., Speaks at Vancouver; the Government's Failure

Vancouver, Aug. 9.—Before a large crowd yesterday afternoon at Central park, Parker Williams, M.P.P., delivered a stirring address, calling the attention of his hearers to the miserable way in which the affairs of the province have been administered. He issued a warning against again placing the confidence of the government in the hands of Sir Richard McBride and Attorney-General Bowser.

The government officials, as an election is coming on shortly, are out with an agricultural act and a workingmen's compensation act, which Mr. Williams characterized as pure campaign bait. The common assumption that conditions prevailing here in an industrial way are due to the war, Mr. Williams said, had no foundation. The real cause was maladministration. A province so rich in natural wealth as British Columbia, Mr. Williams said, should be a shelter in any economic storm or financial crisis, and hardship and poverty should not exist here.

TRYING TO MAKE PEACE.

The report that Germany has attempted to negotiate a separate treaty of peace with Russia through the king of Denmark is not surprising. It was a foregone conclusion, as we pointed out at the time, that the occupation of Warsaw would be followed by overtures from Berlin to Petrograd, with the elimination of Russia from the war as the object. Both the terms suggested by Germany and the effort itself were highly characteristic. On the understanding that she should retain the western portion of Poland she offered Russia the eastern part of Galicia, which, of course, is not Germany's but Austria's. As for the morality of such a transaction, it never would occur to Germany, which has no respect for treaties, that Russia, having bound herself with the allies to continue the war in common with them to the end, would abide faithfully by her plighted word. Notwithstanding the intrigues of German emissaries in Russia and their efforts to alienate the great Slav power from her allies by circulating reports that "Great Britain was prepared to continue the war to the last Russian soldier," it was a foregone conclusion, also, that Russia would reject the German overtures.

The Berlin offer to Petrograd through the king of Denmark is very significant. It indicates a realization of the gigantic task to which Germany committed herself when she undertook to eliminate Russia from the conflict by force of arms. The strain upon her machine has been terrific. Her losses must have been appalling. She knows, as everybody else knows, that her formidable efforts on the eastern front cannot be continued without the payment of a further terrible price, for the simple reason that aside from the extraordinary demand upon her munitions and other supplies there is a limit to the staying powers of the soldiers themselves. The free use of reserves, of course, relieves the pressure but she cannot continue to drain her reservoir of reserves.

It is true that Germany might abandon her present attempt to envelop the Russian armies and fortifying the Vistula, fight a defensive battle on all her fronts with an excellent prospect of holding her own for many months. But that precisely is what she wishes to avoid. Not only does it not accord with her military teaching, but a defensive war on her part is a losing war. It would mean the early collapse of Turkey and Austria and leave her surrounded by a circle of enemies of increasing strength. Hence she must continue the offensive in the hope of gaining a definite decision or inflicting such blows as will compel either eastern or western belligerents to agree to terms of peace. Thus we are certain she will stick to her operation against Russia, especially in view of Petrograd's rejection of her peace overtures and the alluring prospect of her armies winning an important success against the Czar's forces.

There is considerable speculation in London as to what Germany will do after she finishes her Russian campaign. This speculation is purely academic, for everything depends upon the character of the finish. If she attempts seriously an invasion of Russia she will court destruction, yet it is impossible to see how she can let go of the bear's ear at this stage. We should bear in mind that when the German and Austrian armies enter the vast recesses of the Muscovite domain they must fight primitive strength with primitive strength on its own ground. They will have lost most of the advantages which superior scientific advancement and facilities gave them within their own military boundaries, and in the last analysis it will be bayonet to bayonet. The Russian bayonet is a deadly weapon in the Russian swamp or on the ice-bound Russian steppe.

ROUMANIA TO INTERVENE?

Roumania has called three classes of reserves to the colors. Whether this is a precautionary measure taken in the expectation of an early Germanic invasion of Serbia or a prelude to Roumanian intervention in the war a few days will tell. So far the German and Austrian successes against the Russians have not brought about a change of Roumanian attitude towards the central empires or Turkey. The embargo on the passage of munitions to Constantinople remains in operation and the month which Austria is reported to have given Roumania in which to modify her course is nearing an end.

If Roumania intervense at all in the war it will be soon. Her harvesting has been completed and as she seems to be ready in every other respect it is scarcely probable that she will wait until the winter makes operations costly and difficult. If she strikes it will be with the allies. She knows that an Austrian victory would mean farewell to her aspirations of a Greater Roumania through her union with Transylvania and Bukowina. Not only that but it would be followed by a blow at her national integrity, for the German purpose is to reduce the Balkan states to the status of German protectorates. Besides, racially the Roumanians are so strongly akin to the Italians and the French that under no circumstance would they take up arms against them, and no Balkan people will fight for Turkey.

A few weeks ago Mr. Asquith, in asking parliament to give the cabinet carte blanche in respect of financial arrangements, intimated that the number of the allies might be increased in the near future. Coming from a statesman noted for the care and studied moderation of his utterances this intimation was accepted in all quarters as indicating the certainty that one of the present neutrals was about to take up arms on the allies' cause. The signs and portents, not the less significant of which is the menacing attitude of the German press to Roumania, suggest that the well-organized and thoroughly efficient army of that state will be the first in motion.

THE LOCAL McGILL COURSE.

The body established by the provincial government for the management of the University of British Columbia when there is one, has decreed the termination of the two years' McGill arts course which has been conducted in connection with the High school in this city. The McGill arts course in Vancouver is to be taken over and with the addition of a science course is to become the nucleus of the provincial university. If Victoria students desire to continue their university studies they must go to Vancouver. If they cannot afford to do this they must abandon the course. As for the teachers, if they cannot be absorbed into the regular High school staff they must seek positions elsewhere.

This is a high-handed action on the part of the governing board which should call for the intervention of the provincial department of education. We could quite understand their attitude if there were a British Columbia university. But there is no such institution, and there will be none for some time. Certainly a makeshift composed of the Vancouver McGill course with the addition of a science course is no excuse for the enforced discontinuance of the work in Victoria. There are more than seventy students taking the course in this city. To many of them the cost of continuing their studies on the Mainland will be prohibitive, especially when the compulsion comes without warning in the middle of their course.

The local educational authorities have asked for a year's notice, and this, in our opinion, is a modest request. If they had asked for two years they would not have been extravagant. The board of governors, however, cavalierly insist upon the change taking place immediately, and, we are informed, had made arrangements with the parent McGill institution at Montreal for the closing down of its branch in Victoria without even notifying the local authorities of their action.

Such higher educational facilities as Victoria has are among the chief assets of the place as a residential centre, and we do not propose to remain quiescent under an attempt to take them away unless absolute justification can be shown for it. We lost the university in the first place as the result of a transparent juggle with the Attorney-General as juggler extraordinary, and we are going to fight for the continuance of university studies here until the provincial institution to be established in Vancouver becomes something more than a shadow. This is a matter which should be taken in hand by the school board and other public bodies at once and representations for the intervention of the government should be made.

THE ATTITUDE OF SWEDEN.

For discovering mare's nests in connection with the present war a certain section of the London press captures the palm. The London Morning Post on Saturday expressed grave uneasiness over the attitude of Sweden, which induced the Swedish ambassador at London to declare that his country was consistently neutral and would remain so to the end.

Sweden and Russia in years gone by were hereditary enemies, and the absorption of Finland by the great Slav power did not help matters, but there is no particular reason why the Swedish people should want to surrender their independence to Germany for the sake of settling an ancient quarrel. Austria's attitude to Serbia and Germany's course in Belgium have opened the eyes of small states generally to the deadly menace a German victory would mean to them, and we hazard the prediction that not a solitary neutral power in the world will draw its sword in the Teutonic cause. Aside from self interest is there a civilized or even semi-civilized people on earth which would care to degrade itself in the eyes of posterity by associating itself with the violators of Belgium, the perpetrators of the Lusitania massacre, the rotten oligarchy of Vienna or the third member of that unholy triumvirate, the abandoned profligate on the Bosphorus? Let us give the present neutrals credit for possessing ordinary common sense.

The war has reached a critical stage in one very important field of operations—the Prime Minister of Canada and his Minister of Militia are attending functions and addressing meetings in London, whereas they both should be in Canada, where there is important work for them to do. While Canada appreciates the honor conferred upon her in the distinctions accorded her first minister, we believe her people would be better satisfied if these ceremonies were deferred until after the war. But whatever reason may be urged for Sir Robert Borden's absence from the country at this juncture cannot be urged for the Minister of Militia. What a fine mess there would be if the first ministers and ministers of militia of all the overseas dominions were absent from their posts of duty at this time!

The ratepayers of Portland by vote have declared the installation of meters on ordinary water services to be an economic extravagance. Under conditions at present prevailing in Victoria, with far more water available than can be used by the population of the city, possibly if the council were to consider the matter from a purely economic point of view, they might reach the conclusion that the continuation of the meter system on the ordinary services is an unjustifiable extravagance. And these are times when the city cannot afford to maintain anything that pertains of the character of an extravagance. At least that is the opinion of the taxpayers.

A Sayville wireless dispatch from Berlin says the British have placed ten thousand Zulu barbarians in the trenches to fight against the civilized and kultured Huns. The British cannot afford just yet to run the risk of the Zulus learning any Hunnish tricks. Besides a knobkerrie, even though vigorously applied, would have no effect upon the head of the average apostle of kultur.

Writing from inside the German lines, an authority says the Zeppelin is literally and completely exploded. The feat of Lieut. Warneford burst the heart of the operators of the big gas bags. The destruction of two of the best of the airships at almost the same time struck terror into the marrow of the crews of the raiders, and the general belief is that they will raid no more.

The editor of an American contemporary dines but once in three days. He claims to have discovered by experimentation that in order to attain and maintain fulness of life and do the best work that is all that is necessary. A very important discovery indeed in these times of high cost of publication, especially for an editor.

There are forty government members in the B. C. legislature. We venture the prediction that all of them of military age will apply for commissions in the army, and judging by existing conditions they will get them to the exclusion of better qualified men.

The expression of woe you saw on the countenances of the faithful on Saturday was not the product of the unsatisfactory news from Poland. It was the result of the sombre tidings from Manitoba.

Sir Richard's agents are hinting at the desirability of a coalition in British Columbia. Might almost as well suggest mixing oil and water. The political elements will not coalesce.

An American paper says Germany has won the first round on points, but the opening of the second year of the war reveals her bleeding to the point of exhaustion.

UNEMPLOYMENT: PLACING THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Melbourne Progress.

A beggar accosted a gentleman in New York and asked for assistance.

"I don't like giving money to beggars," said the gentleman, "but if you like, I will give you work."

"That is what I want," said the tramp.

"All right; can you dig?"

"Yes, I can dig."

"Then come along."

The gentleman bought the tramp a pickaxe and spade, and, taking him to a vacant piece of land, he said, "I want to build a house here. You start digging the foundations."

The tramp went to work and at the end of the day got his wages. But he had not been at work long the next day when a man came up to him and said, "What in thunder are you doing there?"

"Can't you see," he replied, "I am digging the foundations of a house?"

"But who told you to do it?" was the next question.

"Mr. So-and-so," was the reply.

"Come out of that," was the answer, "that land does not belong to him. It is mine; clear out or I'll have you taken up."

"What!" said the tramp, "the land does not belong to him?"

"No! Of course not. Clear out, I tell you."

"Then I guess I will make it hot for him for making a fool of me."

Off went the tramp to the gentleman's house in a towering rage and began to make a row.

"Look here, my man," said his employer, "I know the land doesn't belong to me, but you wanted work, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, I want to build a house. I have the capital, and you have the labor, but this man won't let me have the land, though I have offered him a fair price for it. I cannot get the house I want, and you and many workmen cannot get the work you want because this man won't let us. If you want to quarrel, go and quarrel with him."

A STARTLING HAT.

London Mail.

A lady's hat which would no doubt create as great a sensation to-day as it did at the time of its first appearance in 1452 was that worn by Blanche de Bourbon, queen of Castile, wife of Peter the Cruel. It cost £35 and was made in Paris. The hat itself was composed of de chypre and relieved with great pearls, garnets and enamel work. Children, carved in the whitest of ivory, were depicted picking acorns of pearls from the oaks and scattering them to the swine below. Birds were singing in the trees, and at the foot were bees stealing honey from the flowers springing up from the verdure.

NOT SETTLED BY THE KAISER.

Westminster Gazette.

According to a neutral diplomatist who has just arrived at Paris from Berlin, the kaiser last week made a speech in which he swore that there would be no winter campaign, for the (quite sufficient) reason that the war is to be over in October. It would not be safe to be quite sure that this report of the kaiser's speech is accurate; before we can be certain of that we must have more evidence than is yet forthcoming. All we say is that whilst we hope the war will end quickly, the most foolish thing possible would be to rely on the October date, particularly as the kaiser's calculation must be that by that time the allies will be effectually defeated. It is not practical politics to attempt to name the happy day—or even month—when the war will end. We are none the less confident that when that end comes it will be at a time and in a manner not settled by the kaiser.

WHEN WILL THE GERMAN FLEET COME OUT?

New York Herald.

One year has passed since Germany's battleships abandoned the sea and withdrew into the seclusion of their country's inner harbors. Unconfirmed reports state that British submarines have sought them even to the entrance of the Kiel canal, only to find that the ships of the high sea fleet had found refuge inside the canal itself, the entrances of which were effectively blocked.

In the meantime the allies have reaped every advantage that an overwhelming victory could have yielded. While German colonies have disappeared and German commerce has been swept from the ocean, the allies continue to transport their troops and supplies and carry on their oversea commerce almost as in peace. The guerilla warfare practiced by German submarines has as yet yielded no military results of value.

The complete failure of their naval aspirations can be nothing less than a crushing disappointment to the German people, and particularly to the one million members of the German Navy league. The navy law of 1906 had announced the policy that German sea power would be so strong that the greatest navy would not dare meet it without imperilling its own supremacy. Pan-German lectures had extolled the superiority of the Krupp guns, which would make their fleet superior to the British fleet when "The Day" arrived to engage in battle.

Will the twenty-six dreadnoughts lie in the Kiel canal throughout this greatest of wars without firing a gun?

It seems incredible. But it is clear that German naval policy has for the first year accepted the principle that "a fleet in being" is more valuable than a fleet at the bottom of the sea, while Germany, besieged, clings to her submarine campaign with desperation in a futile struggle to escape strangulation.

The safety of the British empire rests as ever with its navy. Somewhere in the North Sea the grand fleet of Admiral Jellicoe keeps its ceaseless watch, content with the knowledge that each day is a new disaster for the beleaguered enemy and another victory for the allies. The submarines are helpless to restore the German flag to the seas; the British dreadnoughts remain the final arbiter of the war. In this fact lies the greatest lesson of the war. If this lesson is heeded the resources of the United States will insure our safety.

THE DEGREE OF D. T. T.

From the Philadelphia Record.

The University of Afres Callientes, which may not be found in the United States, but whose graduates are not uncommon among us, has decided to confer the degree of Doctor of Tweedledum and Tweedledee, "cum summa laude," upon William Jennings Bryan, who, it may still be remembered, was once secretary of state.

In the fineness of his intellectual scales, in his amazing capacity, to differentiate tweedledum from tweedledee, Mr. Bryan stands easily at the head of the writing and talking world. The University of Hot Air has honored itself in recognizing the supreme merit of the man who has the whole world of sophists beaten to a frazzle in his ability to draw a distinction without a difference.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

Dr. Richter, the Liberal leader, said in the reichstag in 1898:

"It is not true that England is hostile to us in our colonial aims. England could have taken all our colonies long ago if she had thought it worth her while, for they all lay at her door. It has been possible for all our imperial chancellors, from Prince Bismarck downwards, to delimit our colonial spheres of interest by treaties with England in a businesslike manner. Who would ever have imagined that England would have ceded Heligoland to us? All these agreements were successfully concluded without any regard to our navy, but as a result of the general attitude of Germany to England."

"MY SUCCESSOR MUST DO IT."

American Economic League.

A writer in the Unpopular Review tells of a conversation with former President Diaz of Mexico, in the days of his power. He had asked Diaz "why he did not apply the single tax and so break up the large estates." To which Diaz replied: "It must be done some day, but one of my successors must do it."

Evidently the people of Mexico agreed with Diaz and so provided him with a successor by means of a revolution. But before this successor, Madero, could put the single tax in operation he was treacherously deposed and murdered.

A MASTER-MIND.

New York Sun.

To accuse Mr. Bryan of knowing anything is to do gross wrong to the monumental vacuum which tops his frame. Mr. Bryan has spent a life-time in the earnest pursuit of ignorance. He has specialized in the art of forming opinions unhampered by the restraining influence of facts. He has devoted an energy admirable in quality and unlimited in quantity to the neglect of evidence. Undeviatingly he has pursued his course toward the complete development of vocality dissociated from mental effort and he has achieved enduring success in the difficult science of speaking without knowledge as one having authority.

Passing by Mr. A. H. Hartley's new store on Fort street, the eye is arrested by his very fine signboard—the work of H. Warburton, Grahame street. This class of sign (facised, facias), is comparatively new to Victoria, and although rather expensive in the first place, is cheap in the long run on account of great durability and artistic superiority. We should like to see more of this work, which certainly would lend a smarter aspect to the city. •

The tanks are now at the station on Burrard inlet opposite the Ioco refinery. They are to be shipped here, and the refined oil will come here for storage from Ioco. Fuel oil will come direct from South America. The representative here expects that the tanks will be erected within one year.

☆ ☆ ☆

Said He Was Sober.—John Handley, better known along the waterfront as "Scotty," came up on remand in police court to-day on a charge of being drunk. He was remanded from Saturday to permit of the attendance of the constable who made the arrest. John convulsed the court by his story of the affair, in which his dog had figured. He was found lying on Langley street, at the corner of Yates street, helpless and it required the services of Constables Munro and Gates to get him into the patrol. Constable Littlefield corroborated their testimony as to the condition of the defendant. Handley assured the court that he had not been drunk, but that at the time he was on his way to meet a man who was going to draw some money, and had the police given him a few minutes he had no doubt he would have sobered up. The court believed he had reached that state sooner than he thought, and fined him $4 or one week.

☆ ☆ ☆

More Helpers Wanted.—The Red and Blue Cross flower guild held a general meeting last Friday at 207 Government street, this being fairly well attended. The report of the week's work was encouraging, the sum of $46 having been handed over to the Blue Cross society and $40 to the Red Cross society. This, it was pointed out, demonstrated the enthusiasm of those young ladies in the guild who undertook the none too easy task of selling the flowers generously contributed by sympathizers. But it was emphasized that unless the guild could get more volunteers to sell the flowers the scheme was likely to become a failure, simply for lack of helpers. It is hoped by the guild, consequently, that anyone seeing this notice and wishing to help will come forward and offer her services. A few boys or young men willing to assist by calling at stated houses for the quantities of flowers donated are also wanted. Full particulars may be had by telephoning 3501R.

RAZORS WANTED FOR SOLDIERS AT FRONT

Appeal Made to Public for Disused Razors; Hardware Dealers Collect

A movement to supply old and spare razors to the men at the front is receiving growing support from various firms and individuals throughout the country. An appeal, originating with Lord Kitchener, has been issued, and local hardware dealers have taken action through S. J. Drake, president of the Retail Hardware Dealers' association, with the idea of taking any such old or spare razors from those who wish to send them to the soldiers.

H. A. Stewart, regimental barber to the 88th Fusiliers since the war began, has offered to accept all razors for the men of that unit, many of whom have no razors. He himself will give six razors, and will undertake to hone, free of charge, all razors donated. Old razors will be most acceptable, and contributors are asked to leave their donations at Stewart's barber shop, 611 Fort street.

Mrs. Harry Helmcken has been particularly successful recently in collecting razors for the soldiers. She states that any left at the store of A. A. Clayton, jewelers, Fort street, will be looked after and distributed in the proper quarters.

At a meeting of Post No. 1, Native Sons, to be held to-morrow evening at the K. of P. hall, the secretary will be glad to receive from members any old razors they may have to give. Members unable to attend are requested to leave their donations at F. A. Gowen's store, Government street.

A recent publication of Hardware and Metal contains an article which gives some information on the subject of what is being done with the razors:

"Hardwaremen throughout Canada are responding splendidly to the appeal for old or spare razors for the soldiers at the front. Although several thousand razors have been turned in there are undoubtedly many thousands more already in the hands of retail hardware merchants ready for forwarding to Toronto. A large shipment will be made from Toronto on August 8, and hardwaremen are requested to forward as many as possible during the coming week in order to assist in making the shipment as big as possible. The need is urgent. The troops need the razors, and the majority of English razor-makers are now at the front. The master cutler at Sheffield has made arrangements to have all old or spare razors honed and forwarded to the war office without delay. It is the duty of all those at home to do all that is possible for the men at the front."

No razor is too bad to be made fit for use, as all will be re-ground, rehoned, and put into first-class condition by the master cutler at Sheffield before being sent to the war office. In England over 70,000 have been collected. Clubs are collecting, and many interesting varieties have come to light. The manufacture of razors has been greatly curtailed owing to the labor conditions in England, and it is hoped that all who can will help in this campaign.

Earthquakes Recorded.—During the past week no less than three world-shaking quakes were recorded by the seismographs at the meteorological station, Gonzales Heights, these being as follows: on August 3, 9,600 miles distant, probably in the region of the Indian archipelago; on Friday, August 7, 4,800 miles distant, probably in the Japanese group; and on Saturday, August 7, 11,000 miles distant. This last disturbance, Mr. Denison thinks, would be in the neighborhood of the Indian ocean. All the earthquakes were very clearly defined on the instruments, but probably all are sub-oceanic and might not affect the land despite the fact that the disturbances were sufficiently severe to be felt practically the world over on the delicately-arranged instruments.

DEAF MEN IN A FIGHT

Owner of Wheel and Caretaker of Houses Get Into Noisy Dispute, Neither Hearing the Other.

For the bystanders there was something humorous in a fight between two deaf men on View street, near Douglas street, about half-past ten o'clock on Saturday night. For the offence against the law they were both in police court to-day, but a remand was granted until to-morrow to enable one of them to have legal advice.

Henry Boggart, who told the court he was somewhat hard of hearing, from what has been learned left a bicycle in an alley between two of a row of vacant houses on View street. When he went to get his wheel his right to it was disputed by Samuel Harris, who is acting as a caretaker of the property. Harris owns to being a little deaf.

If either explained or tried to explain to the other that he had a right to do as he did, the other evidently did not hear. As seems more likely they pitched into each other with tongues and fists without much explanation. A couple of passersby were attracted, and they tried to separate the elderly fighters by kicking at them as they struggled on the ground.

Constable Simmons came along and arrested all four, but the peacemakers were able to convince the officer that they were not parties to the fight, although their well-meant efforts at getting them apart were rather unwisely exercised.

Boggart is being represented by R. C. Lowe.

Rain in North. — Practically the whole province is enjoying ideal mid-August weather at present, but heavy rains are recorded from certain districts on northern B. C. coast. The prairies have magnificent harvest weather, and the crops may still be taken in in good condition if the now prevailing weather lasts.

Shot at Cats.—John Schnorr pleaded guilty in police court to-day to shooting off a weapon within the limits of the city. The facts were told by a couple of lads, who saw the defendant shoot twice at the cats on Belleville street, on Tuesday last, wounding one of them. He was fined $10.

Child is Hurt.—A little son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Brown, 333 Moss street, sustained a fractured collar bone on Saturday afternoon, when it ran in front of the motorcar driven by H. Madderford and was knocked down. The little fellow had started across the street and apparently, when he saw the car, turned to go back. If he had kept on across the street he would have been quite safe. Mr. Madderford stopped his car promptly, but was unable to avoid hitting the child, owing to its running back so suddenly. Medical attention was secured by the family and the child treated at home.

B. Inglis attended the bride and bridegroom, the former of whom wore her going-away costume of blue cloth with hat en suite. Mr. and Mrs. Muncy will make their home in Victoria.

Members of the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, I. O. D. E., were the guests on Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Macklin, at her pretty summer camp at Cordova Bay. About thirty-five members of the chapter went out in private motor early in the afternoon, and the time was enjoyably spent boating and taking tea on the veranda of the cottage. A unique decoration was designed for the occasion, the tables being decorated with flowers designed to form the letters A. D. C., the initials of the chapter's name. A big bonfire was lighted on the beach in the early part of the evening, and the guests remained until about 9 o'clock chatting informally around the cheery blaze. Before starting for the city the visitors accorded Mrs. Macklin three hearty cheers in recognition of her kindness in arranging the entertainment.

Very Rev. Dean Schofield officiated at the wedding last Wednesday of Jean Mildred, daughter of Mrs. F. W. Vincent, of this city, and Carleton Howells Willis. Only immediate relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride, who wore a beautiful but simply designed robe of taffeta silk with veil and wreath of orange blossoms, was attended by her sister, Miss Olive Vincent, who was daintily attired in turquoise broche crepe, with a black hat. The bridegroom was attended by Charles Douglas Vincent, a brother of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, later Mr. and Mrs. Willis leaving by the steamer Niagara for a honeymoon trip to Honolulu.

TOBACCO FUND.

Up to July 31 Sum of $983.50 Was Collected and Disbursed According to Auditor's Statement.

Appended is the statement of G. W. Anthony, accountant and auditor of the United Service tobacco fund, as to the disbursements of the $983.50 collected:

"I have examined the books and accounts of the United Service tobacco fund from November 10, 1914, to July 31, 1915, inclusive, and I hereby certify that the total receipts for this period were $983.50. Of this sum $889.80 has been remitted to England, to be expended on tobacco and cigarettes for sailors and soldiers. Expenses, including $40 for hire of theatre and the cost of providing collecting boxes, etc., were $31.60, and the balance at the bank on July 31, 1915, was $12.10." (Sgd.) G. W. Anthony, hon. auditor.

This statement shows that the total sum sent to England was $889.80, this representing a total of 8,566 packages of tobacco, etc. The expenses referred to were made up as follows: Collection boxes, $23.70; theatre for Fusiliers' band concert, $40; printing, $9.50; and the balance expended in postage, stationery, etc.

The committee of the fund, which will be kept open during the remainder of the war, consists of Mrs. W. J. Roper, president; Mrs. G. Jay, vice-president; Mrs. W. G. M. Rolston, Mrs. W. J. Bowser, Mrs. Cancellor, and Miss G. L. King (hon. secretary-treasurer). The clerical work since the inception of the fund has been done gratis. All lists sent to London are carefully typed, giving names of subscribers and addresses, and duplicates kept at headquarters. From time to time letters and post cards of grateful thanks have been received from the trenches.

The fund will be kept open during the duration of the war. The $200 set aside for tobacco from the part proceeds of "Stop, Look, Listen," was sent forward to England direct, it is understood, and not through the above fund.

"I didn't want to come here in the first place," confided the first guest at the expensive hotel at a well-known holiday resort on the South Coast. "Nor did I," replied the second, "but my wife insisted on my coming." "So did mine," said the first. "She said we had to come just because the Munseys were coming, although I told her we simply could not afford the expense." "And that's what I said," explained the second, "but my wife said we had to come because the Brown's were coming." "Why, look here, my name is Brown." "And mine is Munsey." Then the two men shook one another warmly by the hand.

"So sorry not to have heard your lecture last night," said the loquacious lady. "I knew I missed a treat; everybody says it was splendid." "I wonder how they found out," said Mr. Frockcoat; "the lecture, you know, was postponed."

PITHY PARAGRAPHS

"What are you reading about?" "The ruins of Pompeii." "When was it bombarded?"

Moneysacks (sternly): "James, after this, please uncork all of the bottles in my presence. I notice that when you draw the corks in the pantry the wine is extremely decollete." James (the butler): "Extremely decollete, sir?" Moneysacks: "Yes, James, very low in the neck."

"Reginald," said his father, working the gimlet-eye business, "have you eaten any of the peaches I put in the cupboard?" "Father," he replied, "I cannot tell a lie. I have not touched one." "And yet, Reginald, I find five peach stones in your bedroom, and only one peach left in the cupboard." "That, father, is the one I did not touch."

More than a Hint. He was a very shy young man. For two long years he had been paying her attentions, and had not yet even squeezed her hand. One evening as they lingered in the shadow of the trees by her gate he asked timidly: "Florence, would you mind—er—might I, er—would you mind if I placed one reverent kiss on your fair hand to-night when I leave you?" Florence thought he wanted speeding up. So she dropped her head coyly on his shoulder, lifted her face temptingly to his, and replied: "Well, George, I should think it decidedly out of place!"

A writer recalls two stories with which, he says, he mystifies his English friends. A Scotsman entered a crowded railway carriage, filled his pipe, felt all his pockets in vain, then turned to the rest of the occupants of the compartment, and inquired—"Hae ony o' ye ony on ye?" He got a match. Some Englishmen were partridge shooting with a Scottish keeper, and a covey was started. Soon after another covey was put up, and a discussion arose as to whether they were the same birds or not. "Na, na," said the keeper, "thons wi' them, for there was five o' thae, and there's only fower o' thir."

In Samuel Butler's imaginary kingdom of Erewhon illness was a punishable offence. An innocently unconscious testimony to the truth of Butler's satire was given the other day by a class of little girls in a Glasgow school. The dux had been absent for a day and, according to the rule, had forfeited her position. She took it so much to heart that the teacher made an appeal to the class for special treatment, adding: "It wasn't Lizzie that was ill; she was attending to her sick grandmother." "Aw-w," came the sympathetic chorus, "let her get it back. It wasn't her fault; it was her grandpother's."

A pretty young lady went into a music shop the other day. She tripped up to the counter, where a new clerk was busy, and in her sweetest tones asked: "Have you 'Kissed Me in the Moonlight'?" "No! It must have been the man at the other counter. I've only been here a week."

"I observe a photograph in the pictorial supplement of the "Sunday Gazoo," showing a German religious service just before a battle, and every man in the place has got his hat on," said Whibley. "Yes," said Jingleberry. "The Germans uncover only in the presence of the senior member of the firm of Me und Gott."

A young lady who was going to New Zealand to get married went to a dressmaker for her trousseau. The dressmaker suggested a warm one. The young lady asked why, seeing that the climate of New Zealand is a beautifully mild one. The dressmaker replied: "I assure you, madam, you are mistaken, for that is where the frozen meat comes from."

Mrs. Finnickle (entering kitchen with newspaper).—"Norah, the celebrated doctor says that brooms are full of microbes, so hereafter you have to give your broom an antiseptic bath every day." Norah.—"Shure O'll not! Next thing ye'll be askin' me to give it massage thatements and hippydermic injections, an' ye may as well understand right now that O'm no thrained nurse!"

One Sunday morning the weather was so bad that little Louise's mother would not allow her to attend services. The child was very disconsolate. "Grandma will read the Bible to you," her mother assured her. "I don't want to hear the Bible," objected Louise. "I want to say my prayers." "Well, dear," said the mother, "God will hear your prayers just the same if you say them at home as if you were in church." "But I don't know any prayers without the prayer-book," said Louise. "Why, yes, you do!" said the mother, "You know 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'" "But, mother," remonstrated the little girl, "God has heard that so often."

Painless Dentistry

Is an art. It is accomplished from the experience of years, combined with the use of harmless botanical formulas. By my system of "Analgesia" I so thoroughly anaesthetize the tooth to be worked upon that there is not the slightest sense of pain. While the tooth is thus temporarily numbed, I remove every particle of decay and place my fillings or crowns so accurately that they will last a lifetime. Guaranteed ten years.

Highest Grade Work
Painless Methods
Lowest Prices

August is an especially quiet month for dentists, but I will give the people especially low prices for the best in dentistry rather than reduce my staff of expert specialists. You can save much of the cost of your work by having it attended to now. If you cannot pay all the money down talk to me regarding my PAY AS YOU CAN plan. Consultations free.

TEETH EXTRACTED PAINLESSLY

By the application of a harmless botanical formula to the tissues around the tooth to be extracted, I so thoroughly numb the gums that I simply lift the tooth from the gums without shock or discomfort. By my system of "Dentalized Air" you do not even know when the teeth are removed. This system is especially desirable in cases of children and nervous people. Have your teeth extracted in the summer—no danger of catching cold.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Chapters four and five of that magnificent serial film drama, "The Diamond From the Sky," will be the feature at the Majestic theatre to-day and to-morrow. This section deals with "The Prodigal's Progress," and continues from the moment when Arthur Stanley was carried unconscious down the stream in the wrecked automobile which had plunged into the waters. The river into which Arthur fell swept past the gypsy encampment where several other characters lived, and his adventures with them and afterwards form the subject for two entertaining reels.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

The Allen Players will present one of the most unusual plays of their repertoire this week, "The Westerner." This play is a comedy drama dealing with a young westerner and his fight against a set of Wall Street crooks to keep from their grasp the fortune of the girl whom he loves. The play contains comedy galore, much of it being furnished by a country deacon and his wife who come to New York, where the deacon goes wild over horse-racing, and his wife becomes a rabid devotee of the game of baseball. Mrs. Allen and Charles Connors will fill these roles to the limit. Miss Felton and Biron Eagan will play the young people about whom the plot revolves. "The Westerner," with its maximum of healthy excitement, and its hilarious humor, is one of the best things the players at the Princess have ever offered.

DOMINION THEATRE.

"The Millionaire Baby," an adaption of Anna Kathering Green's novel, filmed in six parts, will constitute the chief attraction during the first part of the week. This story has a baffling plot, is replete with tense interest and finished production throughout. The photography of these six reels can best be described as excellent. Special mention might be made first of all of the artistic care displayed in the settings of the production, and next to the clearness of the story. The plot of the story is quite involved, but the exacting observer cannot fail to note that the screen reveals all the aids necessary to a full understanding. Harry Mestayer and Grace Darmond make a strong appeal in the leading parts as husband and wife, and Charlotte Stevens is a winsome child in the titular role. She is a graceful little dancer and a clever child actress. There is no doubt that "The Millionaire Baby," as a first class dramatic offering of unusual type, will prove popular at the Dominion during its three days' run.

GRACE CUNARD

As "Kitty Grey" in "The Broken Coin," at the Variety theatre.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Extraordinary in every respect is the show offered at Pantages this week in that it consists almost exclusively of headline acts and is, taken in the by and large, probably the finest bill of the season.

First place is alletted to Henriette De Serris and her company of professional models from the art centres of Europe, who appear in a series of wonderful tableaux vivants, reproducing some of the famous masterpieces of painting and sculpture. "The Regiment is Passing," "Spring," "The Angelus," "The Winning Post," and the "Defence of the Flag."

Of second importance is the appearance of Webber's famous melody phiends, who render a distinguished programme of classic and popular selections on stringed instruments, the banjo being featured. The young people are individual artists of rare genius and their playing shows the result of most thorough training and initial talent.

Arthur May and Sunny Kilduff are here with their exhilarating skit, "The Limb of the Law," which is funnier than ever.

The University Four, a splendid quartette of male voices, will be heard to advantage in a group of rattling good songs intermingled with some bright and original funning. Alexander Brothers, champion ball bouncers, have a most novel performance and the Pantagescope shows interesting pictures.

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.

The new series of pictures shown for the first time this afternoon at the Royal Victoria theatre, and which will be continued for the first three days of this week, are both interesting and amusing. The three-reel feature, "The Attorney for the Defence," has a story which is full of tensely dramatic situations, and is a photoplay that holds the attention of all. In one of the scenes a very exciting motorcar accident is seen, in which a car breaks through the railing of a bridge and falls in the river below. "The Leather Goods Lady," in which Beverly Bayne is the lady in question, is another film that pleases, being a comedy that has been adapted from a story that has been published in Munsey's Magazine. The plot reveals a neat bit of romance which receives the benefit of Miss Baynes' sympathetic acting. The author has made the hero the pilot of a taxicab, and endowed him with all the virtues. The Selig Pictorial in one of a series of interesting scenes show how English home guards are being trained in parks in the heart of London. The George Ade comedy entitled, "The Intermittent Fusser," causes much hearty laughter, and as usual has a nice little moral. The balance of the programme is made up of two one-reel comedy-dramas which are of the same high-class order.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.

Ina Claire, who is undoubtedly the foremost American star of her age, makes her photodramatic debut in this picturization, at the Columbia, of one of the most charming romantic comedies ever written by Wm. C. De Mille. Miss Claire has recently entered into a contract with the Lasky Company by the terms of which she will appear every year in a certain number of photodramatic offerings, at the same time continuing her legitimate stellar career as a Broadway celebrity. "The Wild Goose Chase" is the love story of a college boy and a charming girl. At about the time they first meet and fall instantly in love with one another each is ordered by stern parents to marry an unknown mate. The reason for this is that the grandfathers of the two young people are two rich old gentlemen of France, and these two old men, according to European custom, offer to provide large sums of money if the young people marry one another. To escape these enforced marriages, man and girl both leave home and join the same wandering theatrical troupe, which meets with many trials and tribulations. It is not until the very end that the young people, finally learning each other's real names, find that they have been on a wild goose chase all the time, because the very thing they desire themselves is what the grandfathers have ordered.

Among a squad of policemen who were being examined on ambulance work was an Irishman, to whom the doctor put the following questions: Doctor—"What would you do to a man who had a cut on the forearm?" Policeman—"Sure, sorr, I'd bathe it with warm, soft water." Doctor—"What do you mean by soft water?" Policeman—"Och! Just soft water, sorr, wet water." Doctor—"And what is hard water?" Policeman—"Ice, sorr."

PRISONER IS DUMB WHEN ASKED A NAME

Oscar Cameron Still Persists in Attitude, and is in Contempt of Court

Oscar Cameron this morning still adhered to his policy of silence regarding the identity of the man whom he said gave him the scarf-pin stolen from Commodore John Musgrave's yacht at Cadboro Bay, in connection with which he is charged with the retention of stolen property.

Cameron was called back to the witness box and cross examined by City Prosecutor Harrison. He was asked for a description of the man he alleges came up from the wharf back of the Ramsay machine shop, and handed him the pins to get a valuation on. He gave one which would fit any one of a hundred men, and which the court thought might fit himself as well. He professed to know the man but would not tell his name, even when the magistrate pointed out that he was liable to commitment for contempt of court.

Mr. Harrison asked him if he knew the name of the man or not, but got no answer. Then he got an admission from Cameron that he had been in trouble in San Francisco on July 30, 1913, when he was charged with embezzlement, but on the question of having been convicted and given one year he hedged. How could he be, when he was mate on a tanker in August? he asked. He was finally cornered into an admission that he had got a ticket-of-leave.

Returning to the question about the man's name, Cameron still kept dumb.

"Isn't it a fact that you don't know the name because it was you yourself who stole these pins?" Mr. Harrison asked.

"You say so, but I say no," replied the prisoner.

Magistrate Jay asked him if he would answer the question whether or not he knew the name of the supposed man, and Cameron shook his head.

Mr. Harrison asked for a remand until to-morrow in order that he might lay a formal charge of contempt of court against Cameron, and sentence was deferred until then.

NORWEGIAN FREIGHTER PROCEEDS TO ALASKA

On her initial voyage from Balboa to Alaska, the little Norwegian freighter, Sinaloa, dropped out her Nanaimo pilot on Saturday afternoon and proceeded on her way north. Last Wednesday the little vessel steamed up the straits in a dense fog, and, eluding the quarantine officials at William Head, proceeded to Cadboro for fuel. She was hailed in English Bay and directed back to William Head. She was then passed by the officials and proceeded to her destination. After discharging her cargo at Alaska she will return to Seattle to load for South American ports.

LOADS AT 'FRISCO.

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—The Harrison liner Crown of Seville, Captain Smith, arrived at San Francisco yesterday from northern Pacific ports to complete her cargo for the United Kingdom.

RAISING OF EASTLAND.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Raising of the steamer Eastland, which turned over in the Chicago river July 24, causing the loss of hundreds of lives, will not be attempted until next Wednesday, it was announced to-day.

FLEET OF DEEP-SEA VESSELS ON WAY HERE

Japanese Freighter on Maiden Voyage Will Arrive Wednesday

Within the next two weeks a large fleet of deep-sea vessels from various ports over the face of the globe will dock here. Mainly they are in the trans-Pacific service.

Wednesday is the scheduled date for the first deep-sea arrival, the Tozan Maru, of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha line, which is making her initial visit here. Until recently she was operated by the same company in the Bombay service, but owing to the heavy shipments to and from the Orient she was withdrawn and placed in this service. The Tozan Maru is an auxiliary freighter. She has 500 tons of general Oriental freight to be discharged here.

Three days later the Tacoma Maru, Captain Kamada, of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner will dock. She will discharge some 500 tons of Oriental merchandise at this port.

On Monday next the Maple Leaf liner, Kentra, operating in the service between New York and Pacific coast ports, is due to arrive. She has a heavy shipment of general freight for Victoria, coming by way of the Panama canal.

The Talthybius, Capt. Cullum, of the Blue Funnel line, should make port by the week-end or early next week. She has a cargo of several thousand tons for North Pacific ports, of which 1,000 tons will be discharged here.

Two Harrison Direct liners are also due here from the United Kingdom next week. They are the steamers Ormiston and the Discoverer. The former vessel, in command of Captain McKillop, is taking the place of the Crown of Castile, which was torpedoed by a German submarine. She is a vessel of 3,147 net tonnage. The Discoverer, Capt. Rushforth, has 500 tons of freight to discharge here, including 350 tons of water-pipe for the Saanich waterworks.

The Discoverer passed through the Panama canal on July 2. These Harrison liners should make port on August 16 and August 18, respectively.

No definite word has been received yet as to when the Grahamland will berth here, but her scheduled date of arrival is August 20. She will load lumber at Genoa Bay, and will afterwards proceed to Victoria to provision.

MOTORSHIP ARRIVES AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—The new Swedish motor ship San Francisco, built to run between Stockholm, its home port, and San Francisco via the Panama canal, arrived Saturday on its maiden voyage, which was 24 hours longer than expected because of its detention in a British port.

The San Francisco made the trip from Stockholm in 51 days. While rounding the north of Scotland the freighter was pursued by a British cruiser, which hailed the motor ship with a shot across the bow and took it into Stornaway, Scotland, for examination.

TWO NEW CHARTERS.

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—Two new coal charters were made late Saturday night by Hind, Rolph & Co. One is the Japanese steamer, Hoakai Maru, which will bring coal from Newcastle, Australia, while the other is the ship Golden Gate, which will load in British Columbia for this port.

BEER EXPORTS FOR ORIENT.

What seems to be an increasingly important export from the North American continent to the Orient is that of beer. When the Japanese trans-Pacific liner Tenyo Maru sailed from San Francisco on Saturday, she carried a large cargo of beer, which is consigned for Batavia, Java.

STEAMSHIP DUE HERE THIS WEEK

REGULATIONS ISSUED TO NEUTRAL VESSELS

Crews Desiring to Land Must Have Photos Attached to Passports

Seattle, Aug. 9.—Stringent regulations in regard to the identification of masters, officers and seamen of neutral countries who wish to go ashore at ports in Great Britain have been issued by the British government and forwarded to Seattle by the commissioner of navigation, Washington, D. C.

American masters, officers and seamen are advised that they must have their photographs attached to their passports or other papers of identification.

The following circular explaining the new regulations has been issued by Collector of Customs F. C. Harper:

"British regulations temporarily require masters, officers or seamen desiring to go ashore from their ships in ports of Great Britain to show national passports, or other identification papers, with photographs attached.

"The state department advises American masters and American seamen bound for Great Britain to obtain passports, or if unable to do so before sailing to carry duplicate unmounted photographs and the best documentary evidence of their citizenship obtainable. Those born here may take British certificates or affidavits showing birth in the United States.

"Naturalized American citizens should carry naturalization certificates. Such papers should be shown to the American consuls at the ports in Great Britain."

PRESIDENT HAS NOT REACHED A DECISION

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 9.—President Wilson disclosed to-day that he had been studying questions raised regarding the seamen's law passed during the last session of congress, but that he would reach no decision on whether any action is necessary until after his return to Washington.

An opinion rendered by the solicitor of the department of commerce to the effect that some safety requirements under the law would not apply to foreign ships coming to American ports has caused officials some concern. The attorney-general has been investigating the situation for several weeks.

Why Drag Through Life Wearing Worthless Trusses?

90 Per Cent. of the Suffering and Trouble Ruptured People Go Through Is Caused By Spring and Leg-Strap Trusses.

Aren't you sick and tired of wearing trusses you can't make hold, which you can't feel safe in, or which hurt so they scarcely give you a minute's peace?

Don't you know that such contraptions will sooner or later let your rupture get the best of you?

Don't you know they are almost sure to cripple you up, so you won't be able to keep at work, won't be able to make a living?

Aren't you afraid they'll gradually let you get so bad that sooner or later you'll have to face a dangerous operation?

Aren't you willing to make a sixty-day test—without having to risk a cent—and see for yourself what a relief it is to get rid of such misery-causing makeshifts?

No More Belts, Leg Straps or Springs

We have found a way to hold any man's rupture without harmful pressure, without any belts or spring around your waist, without having to wear leg-straps.

It is our guaranteed rupture holder.

It is as big an improvement over elastic and spring trusses and so-called "appliances" as the modern locomotive is over the first steam engine ever built.

60 Days Trial to Prove It

We have so much faith in it—have seen what it has done for so many others—that we are willing to make one especially for your case and send it to you for sixty days' trial. Willing to give you plenty of time to see for yourself just how good it is.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or from bothering you in any way, then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

It is the only thing we know of for rupture that you can get on long enough trial to make sure; because the only thing good enough to stand a long and thorough test.

All About It in Free Book

Don't send any money. Just write for our free book—cloth bound, 20 separate articles, 36 pages—and find out everything you want to know. It is full of facts, never before put in print.

It shows just why operation is nearly always a gamble with death, and why those who manage to live through it often have to keep on wearing a truss.

It exposes the fakes and humbugs—puts you on guard against being fooled and against throwing money away.

And it tells all about our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss. Shows how simple it is. Why it needs no belt or leg straps. How it instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't be forced out. How it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture. How it has brought complete cure in thousands of cases that seemed almost hopeless. How it is waterproof and will hold in the bath. How you can get it on 60 days' trial and how little it costs if you keep it.

Explains the care and attention we give you and why, because of our long experience and thorough knowledge of rupture, we are successful in cases that would utterly baffle your local truss fitters.

Write for the book to-day. That will take only a minute. But it may free you from trouble and worry for the rest of your life.

VICTORIA SWIMMERS' GREAT CLEAN UP, JAMIE CAMERON WINS SPRINT TITLES

Capital City Stars Won Major Honors at Vancouver; Relay Team Refused Entry by Gala Officials; Complete Results

Victoria swimmers scored a great triumph at the Vancouver gala on Saturday, when they swept the boards of the provincial swimming championships, cleaning up the junior and senior honors in convincing style. Jamie Cameron, the well-known Y. M. C. A. star, copped both the fifty and one hundred yard dashes, while the locals won all three places in the junior event, Angus McKinnon winning the title. The combined Victoria relay team, composed of Jamie Cameron, Robin Gray, Percy McAdam and Ray Castle, was refused entry to the relay team because it did not represent a single club. The Vancouver authorities simply got "cold feet" when it was realized that the Island cracks were cleaning up the meet, and would not let them race. Ray Castle, the V. A. S. C. star could not race because his entry was a bit late.

In view of the fact that Victoria sent over an entirely new team this year to that which won everything in 1914, the showing of the local aquatic performers is a wonderful one. Jamie Cameron had things his own way in the fifty-yard dash, but in the one hundred-yard event, won by a bare length Miss Dorothy Moore, of the Victoria Ladies' Swimming club, took second in the 440-yard ladies' race, Miss Madge Griffin the B. C. champion, being unable to compete. The Victoria victories follow:

Jamie Cameron first, 50 yards senior B. C. championship.

Angus McKinnon, first, 50 yards junior B. C. championship.

Jamie Cameron, first, 100 yards senior B. C. championship.

Dorothy Moore, second, 440 yards, ladies' B. C. Championship.

Robin Gray, second, 50 yards, junior B. C. championship.

L. Francis, third, 50 yards junior B. C. Championship.

The police force joined in the contests for the first time, and gathered with the local and visiting swimmers at the banquet which followed, at which the prizes were awarded the successful contestants. The following are the results, those named being members of the Vancouver A. S. C., except where otherwise noted:

50 yards, senior championship—Won by J. F. Cameron (Victoria); W. Beasley, second; A. McKinnon, third. Time, 30 1-5 secs.

440 yards, ladies' championship—Won by Miss M. U. Ransom (Mermaids); Miss D. Moore (Victoria), second; Miss Fenn (Mermaids), third. Time, 8.42 2-5.

50 yards, junior championship—Won by A. McKinnon (Victoria); R. G. Gray (Victoria), second; L. Francis (Victoria), third. Time, 32 2-5.

100 yards, senior championship—Won by J. F. Cameron (Victoria); N. G. Steven, second; W. Holmes, third. Time, 1.09 4-5.

25 yards, novice race, Vancouver police—Won by J. Reid.

Relay championship of Vancouver (confined to members of police force), teams of 4 men, each man to swim 25 yards)—Won by team composed of H. W. Ricketts, J. Parsons, R. Newington and E. Owen. Time, 1.19 1-5.

Relay championship of B. C. (teams of 4 men, each man to swim 25 yards)—Won by team composed of J. Russell, N. G. Stephen, H. Bedley and A. McKinnon.

The water polo championship of B. C., contested by two Vancouver teams, was won by the Reds—E. W. Holling, S. E. Deane, F. D. Pickett, A. McKinnon, H. R. Kenvyn, A. Eadie and N. G. Stephen; the final score being 6 to nil.

The course officials were: Referee, E. E. Hand; starter, A. Cotter; judges, E. W. Dean, R. F. Ely and H. E. Arnold.

Vancouver, Aug. 9—Out of thirty-two starters in the sealed handicap swim from Kitsilano to English bay, held yesterday by the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, twenty-seven finished, the balance falling out on account of cramps and other minor ailments. Twenty-six men and six ladies started.

E. W. Hollingum was declared the winner, with J. Parsons second and N. G. Stephens third. Mrs. Bell, of Victoria, finished well up, as did the several other Victoria entries.

Records Broken but Not Allowed at A. A. U. Title Meet; Many Champions Beaten

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—Old champions gave way to new and world's and American records were toppled Saturday in the big championship A. A. U. meet which was won by the Olympic club of San Francisco with 30 points.

Owing to a gale that was blowing, officials decided that records would not stand, but the performances were, nevertheless, imposing.

The Irish-American A. C., of New York, stacking up points in the weight events, finished second with a score of 24. Illinois A. C. was third with 21 and Chicago A. A. fourth with 17, nosing out Boston A. A. by one point.

Two big surprises came in the meet when Norman Taber, the record holder for the mile, was beaten in the mile and Alvah Meyer of the Irish-American A. C. was beaten in the 220 by R. Morse, a 19-year-old sprinter of the Salem Crescent club, of New York.

CANOE CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—In the Canadian canoe championships held at Toronto Saturday, in a high wind, E. Dunn, of the New Edinboro club, Ottawa, won the senior singles, with Bloomfield, of Toronto, second, and Ballantyne, of Ottawa, third. Spills were frequent in all the races, and in the war canoe event, won by Ottawa, the Britannias, of that city, were left struggling in the water when their canoe filled up. The sixteen men were all rescued by the police boats patrolling the course.

DIBBLE RETAINS SCULLING HONORS AT CANUCK HENLEY

St. Catherines, Aug. 9—At the Canadian Henley Saturday Bobbie Dibble, of the Tuns, Toronto, beat Butler, of the Argonauts, his great rival in the senior singles, after a great race, in 10 minutes, 23 2-5 seconds.

Argonauts, of Toronto, won the junior eights and the senior eights, when they defeated the great Undine crew of Philadelphia, coached by Vivian Nickalls, and a crew picked from all over the United States to take the title away from Canada. The Argonauts won by three-quarters of a length.

VICTORIA ELEVEN DEFEATS TERMINALS RED CROSS MATCH WAS HUGE SUCCESS

Splendid Crowd Views High Class Cricket; Lee Starred With Sensational Catches in Field

One of the biggest cricket successes in recent years was featured by the Victoria victory over Vancouver on Saturday at the Jubilee Hospital grounds, the locals having a margin of 71 runs at the close of the day's play. A splendid crowd viewed the match, while the Red Cross committee, who had charge of the various refreshment booths, reported a very tidy sum as a result of the support given to the Red Cross. The entire receipts of the match and sale of tickets will also be turned over to this organization, the cricketers uniting towards making this match the success that it proved to be.

Victoria were but two runs ahead at the conclusion of the first inning, only the splendid bowling of Lee and Sparks dropping the Vancouver wickets when it looked as if the mainlanders would pile up a big total. Lee took five for 26, while Sparks took four for 35. Vaughan, with 30, led the Victoria batsmen, Barrs and Hoare topping the mainlanders. A sensational catch by Lee prevented further scoring. The locals did much better in their second inning. Ward started with a useful 17, Vaughan and Hudson getting together for a very effective partnership, the former getting 45, while the youthful Hudson compiled 43. The Victoria captain declared his innings closed when the eighth wicket had fallen. Silcock's 37 was the main feature of Vancouver's attempt to equalize matters, this batter finally falling to a wonderful catch at mid-on by Lee.

The Cowichan Cricket club was presented with the bat bag donated by the Drake Hardware company for having the greatest percentage of active members at the front. The Cowichan club has sent 41 out of a total membership of 60, his honor Lieutenant-Governor Barnard complimenting the club on its patriotic showing.

Vancouver, Aug. 9.—The meeting of the P. C. L. A. planned for Saturday night, was not called to order for the reason that there was no representation from Victoria, and a rearrangement of the schedule could not very well be made in the absence of the capital club. It is the intention to hold another meeting following the game of next Saturday, when Victoria will be in Westminster for a game.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—Cornwall sprang the greatest surprise of the eastern lacrosse season this year when they came to Montreal and beat the N. L. U. Montreal team by a score of five to three and pushed the latt out of first place in the league. Unless Montreal can beat the Nationals in their next and last meeting of the two teams, the Frenchmen look likely championship winners.

LOCAL PACERS MEET IN MATCHED RACES ON WILLOWS' TRACK

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 9—Peter Scott, driven by Murphy, romped away with the $10,000 paper mill stake, the principal event of the Grand Circuit race meeting here Saturday. Worthy Prince was unable to match his speed with that of Murphy's horse in the classic 2:08 trot, and it was decided in straight heats. The other events, however, furnished plenty of excitement.

Seattle harness horsemen and admirers of that class of sport have been quietly making strenuous efforts to have a harness meet in Seattle this year, and with proper support a fine list of entries could be secured for a four or five days' meet to be held at the Madison park track directly after the Southwest Washington fair, which will be held at the track midway between Chehalis and Centralia the week of August 23 to 28.

Two pacing events were decided at the Willows' track, Minnie M., owned and driven by Leonard Tait, won two straight heats from San Lucas Maid, owned and driven by W. Foster. H. M. Fullerton's Macfoster and T. White's Spot Girl also met. Macfoster won the first heat by a short head, but the succeeding two went to Spot Girl and with them the match.

H. B. "Imperial" Lager Beer, pints, 3 for 25c.

Suburban College of Music.—During his resignation as a teacher in this city, Dr. J. J. Murtagh has constantly awarded handsome prizes to those students under his tuition whose talents, progress and application in their respective studies have secured for them the honor of special recognition at the hands of their teacher. The "1915 Gold Medal," however, which is now ready for presentation to the lucky pupil of the above institution, surpasses all its predecessors in beauty of design, excellence of workmanship and cost of production. One of the great advantages claimed in Dr. Murtagh's system of awarding these medals is that they are as easily won by the mere child or the beginner in any subject as they are by the adult, or the advanced student. The beautiful medal has been won by a little girl of twelve years. Dorothy Warren, of 2431 Richmond road, and on its reverse side it bears the following inscription: "Highest award for Musical Progress, Dorothy Warren Merritt, Suburban College of Music. 30-6-15. J. J. M." Her total number of marks—5,130 out of a possible 7,000—was tied by a little boy of ten years old—Master Reggie Emery, 1909 Maple Avenue—who, however, only succeeded in drawing a blank in the final draw for the coveted prize.

PROHIBITION IS TO GET CONSIDERATION

Provincial Delegation Waits on Premier Asking Stoppage of Liquor Traffic

SAYS MOVEMENT IS SWEEPING PROVINCE

Executive Council Promises Reply Before Time of Vancouver Convention Aug. 23

The government of British Columbia stands to-day where it has always stood in regard to the question of liquor prohibition for British Columbia, but the premier this morning promised consideration of the views expressed by a province-wide delegation which saw the executive at the parliament buildings. Prohibition during the time of the European war was asked for, and forty delegates were present, many of whom spoke.

There is to be held at Vancouver on August 23 and 24 a prohibition convention that the speakers at the meeting with the premier to-day said will be the largest and most representative on the liquor question that ever has been held in this province. The delegation asked the premier to reply to their request before the date of the convention, so that the delegates there will know the government's stand on the matter.

In to-day's delegation there were some who stood for total prohibition, and some who asked the cabinet to introduce prohibition in the province for the remainder of the war. Those who favored the war period were of the opinion that if the government gave them what they asked, the example would be so strong and sufficient that the populace would demand its continuance when the war ends. All said that there was a sweeping public sentiment all over British Columbia in favor of prohibition, and that it was due in a measure to the war, and to the result of the vodka prohibition edict in Russia.

There were fourteen speakers this morning, including three women, and each speaker advanced the purpose of the delegation from a different angle. The moral viewpoint was foremost with them all, while individually they addressed themselves to the question from various viewpoints, including economics, finances, humanity, the home, motherhood, national strength, imperial sentiment and other aspects.

Replying to a suggestion of one speaker that there should be a special session of the legislature called for the purpose of passing a prohibition law, whether temporary or permanent, Sir Richard McBride asked whether a prohibition law would strengthen the economic life of the province and bring harmony. The delegates, as with one voice answered, "yes."

The premier then said, "Now, do you honestly think it would?"

The delegation again replied in the affirmative.

The premier, speaking for the whole cabinet, said he felt very much indebted to the delegation for the members' painstaking and eloquent manner in presenting their views. The government had frequently met temperance delegations in past years, and although he never had been equal to their demands, he felt always a desire to treat them frankly. To-day, he said, conditions were different because of the war.

In the past, the premier continued, the government had tried to exercise discipline and control over the liquor business, for the protection of the public interest, but always with regard to a full measure of fairness to all the parties interested. It must be remembered that there was another side to the matter, and only one speaker had referred to the question of compensation to those who would lose financially by a prohibition law. The premier felt that public opinion ought to be tempered as much as possible. The members of the delegation were perfectly entitled to their opinion as expressed, but he asked that they put themselves in the place of the government. There was a large investment in the liquor business and the government was the trustee for all the people in their economic life.

Dr. W. E. Home reminded the premier then of the results of the prohibition measure in Russia, and of its reported benefit to the nation. The premier replied that he would not say because prohibition had been obtained in Russia it should be followed in British Columbia. He would be inclined rather to follow the example of Great Britain. The premier concluded with a promise of an answer before the prohibition convention met, and added that the government respected all the views expressed, and recognized that a great responsibility rested upon them.

Leonard Tait pleaded for prohibition during the war, and said there was a wastage of $750,000 annually through the liquor traffic in Victoria. The matter of compensation was a question for the government. He suggested immediate prohibition, to be followed by a commission of arbitration to settle the claims of those who would be financial losers.

A. B. McNeill said the cost of government supervision of the liquor business would be saved to the province, that the traffic brought lack of efficiency in men and women, premature death and the misdirection of capital. He spoke of liquor as a luxury, and said as luxuries now were to be done without, this was one of the first that should go. He estimated there were 58 retailers in Victoria who average $60 at least per day from liquor sales. This money could be put to better uses. He advocated permanent prohibition.

Mrs. Mitchell spoke for the home and the women and children. She said there was much suffering in Victoria homes, because of the liquor traffic. She considered the license system a failure, and that in its relation to the liquor business the government was making money out of the degradation of many people.

One of the Vancouver representatives, Mr. Morgan, said that the business men of Vancouver were backing prohibition movement there, and that from Vancouver the province was being organized for the purposes of the delegation. Never before had the country been roused as at the present, he declared. They were working for efficiency and for economy.

Another Vancouver delegate, Mrs. Machin, spoke regarding motherhood and made reference to the crime and the unhappy life of many girls as the direct results of liquor. To support her argument she gave a short statement from a Vancouver magistrate.

J. B. Morgan said $10,000,000 was spent annually in this province in the liquor traffic, and supported the remarks of the other delegates. Mrs. Perry, of the Social Service league of Vancouver, said seventy-five per cent. of the immorality among girls could be traced to the sale of liquor in restaurants and hotel dining-rooms.

Rev. Dr. McLennan spoke for Nanaimo, and said the business men there were out to get prohibition. One brewer had told him it was a matter of five years at most before prohibition swept the province.

Ald. Bell said the war was costing Canada $90,000,000 per annum, but the drink bill of the Dominion was double that sum, and if it were cut off, the war debt could be more than met by this means. He supported the delegation on the ground of efficiency.

Mr. Williamson expressed the sentiment in favor of prohibition in twenty-five interior towns he had visited for the purpose of organization on behalf of prohibition. There was, he said, a sweeping movement in its favor. He was supported by Mr. Cairns, of Vancouver, who said there had been an enthusiastic response from all over the province.

Rev. Dr. Scott said it was a business men's delegation, and that there was a vast imperial sentiment of deep loyalty that demanded prohibition. Referring to the license question he said it was a monopoly terminable by the government, who could dispose of it with the backing of public opinion. He suggested a special session of the legislature to pass a prohibition law.

WILL SEEK SHARE OF SEWER EXPENDITURE

City Expects Some Payment on Account for Trunk Sewers From Saanich

There is no doubt that the city council will shortly make an application to the Saanich council for payments in connection with the construction of the northeast and northwest trunk sewers. At present there is about $125,000 to the credit of the loan, and at the present rate of expenditure on the tunnels there must come a time when the balance will be expended. The money has held out longer than was expected in the estimates of the engineers when the work was started, many economies having been effected in details of construction. Otherwise the unexpended balance would not be as large at this date.

The time, however, is now coming when the city will be justified in pressing for payment, not only to complete the scheme, but to have money to prosecute sewer work provided for in the loan. The city engineer has this aspect in view, in accordance with his announced plan to save expenditure on construction as far as possible till the winter season, when unemployment will be more acute, and the city will be faced with feeding men, or finding them employment.

The northeast sewer has long since been finished, but the connection at the sewer at the boundary has never been made, and when the Normal school sewerage was connected up to the system it was done expressly with the understanding that the municipality of Saanich should not have any service therefrom till the proportion due the city had been paid.

North of the Gorge there has not yet been much work done for the northwest sewer except the building of the Cecilia road tanks. The surveys which were being made by the Saanich engineer to determine the extent of the area which would drain into the system have been suspended because of the pressure of other municipal work.

Esquimalt has already made several progress payments for its share of the system, and the matter of Saanich's contribution will be taken up again shortly. Special legislative power has been secured by Saanich for its lateral system, the city merely undertaking to receive the sewerage at its boundary.

One day a drill sergeant in the army had a number of men to drill, and wanted the married men separated from the single ones, so he formed them in line, and gave the word of command:—"Single men one pace forward; married men, one pace back, march!" All took their positions except one, an Irishman, who stood still. The sergeant asked the reason why he did not move; but no answer came from Pat. "Come, my man, are you married?" "No," replied Pat. "Then, you are single?" "No." "Then, what are you?" "I am courting, sir."

Were it not for the existence of the passions no one would build a house, marry a wife, beget children, or do any work.—Talmud.

LIEUT.-COL. WINSBY HERE FROM VERNON

Popular Officer of 47th Battalion Now in Victoria; More Horses for Squadron

Lieut.-Col. Winsby, commanding the 47th battalion which is now stationed at Vernon, is in the city to-day. A few days ago he sustained an injury in camp, and a slight operation has been found necessary. Lieut.-Col. Winsby will be here for a few days, after which, however, he will be able to resume his duties.

Major Chester Harris, of the 47th battalion, who has been taking a course in musketry and machine-gun drill, will return in a few days to Vernon, where he will resume his duties in the preparation of men for active service.

The Ottawa school of instruction in musketry and machine-gun drill is being attended by a considerable number of officers from the various training camps who, after the completion of the course, become specially qualified for the important work of developing the recruit into the finished product, a first-class infantryman.

The hope entertained by those anxious for the progress of the training of the Squadron of Independent Horse stationed at the Willows in charge of Major Henniker seems to be moving toward realization, as through the generosity of the Hon. Mr. Justice Irving four more horses have been placed at the disposal of the force for training purposes. This, with the remounts provided by the department and two already offered, brings the total number of horses now at the disposal of the unit to ten.

The afternoon boat for Vancouver yesterday bore a detachment of fifty-three men going as reinforcements for B Section, No. 1 Field Ambulance Depot, Vernon, B. C., the recruits being in charge of Capt. Mustard and Staff-Sgt. Goddard. The force will fill the vacancies in the corps caused by the proposed withdrawal of sixty officers and men for overseas service.

Lt.-Col. Hodgins, who is to have command of the Pioneer Regiment, authorization for the formation of which he has just received from Ottawa, returned at noon to-day from Duncan, where he spent the week-end.

MRS. FELS EXPECTED

Single Tax Advocate May Arrive To-morrow; Personnel of Party.

Mrs. Fels, the ardent exponent of the single tax theory, may come a day earlier than her party was expected. She arrived in Vancouver on Friday evening and her engagements call for an address at the Alexandra club on Wednesday evening. She will speak also at the Rotary club luncheon next day.

She is accompanied by Dr. John W. Slaughter, professor of economics and lecturer on single tax at the University of London; Miss Gertrude Huebsch, of New York; and Daniel Kiefer, chairman of the Joseph Fels fund of America. They are on their way to a conference of single taxers to be held at San Francisco in the latter part of this month.

In the course of an interview in Vancouver Mrs. Fels said:

"I am carrying along the work in which my husband was so deeply interested. In his endeavor to alleviate social conditions my husband came to believe in the single tax idea by the same path which led Henry George to formulate the theory. He first inaugurated the cultivation of vacant lots in the city of Philadelphia. From that he went to England and purchased 1,300 acres at Hollesley Bay, to form a labor colony for the unemployed. This colony farm has been taken over by the English government. But in whatever humanitarian activity he engaged, my husband had it forced in upon him that the real source of wealth is to be found in the land. If men could only be placed back on the land their happiness and economic freedom was more assured. It was but a step from that to the belief that the growth in land values belong to the community."

The late Joseph Fels founded the Joseph Fels Fund of America, for which he made a provision for a contribution of $25,000 annually for five years. In addition, he founded similar funds in almost every country of the globe. By this means he extended the propaganda work for the economic philosophy of Henry George into all civilized countries.

They made a tour by car of Vancouver island. They were joined in Vancouver on Saturday by Dr. and Mrs. Anderson, Miss Ruth Anderson, and Alexander Anderson, also of Honolulu. Dr. Anderson and his family came by way of San Francisco, but sent his car by the Niagara. Dr. Herbert speaks highly of the salmon fishing of Vancouver island.

INSURANCE AGENT IS ASSAULTED BY CLIENT

Ten Dollar Fine Imposed for Attack Made When Attempt is Made to Collect

One of the incidents of a life insurance solicitor's day's work formed the subject of a police court case to-day, when Cecil E. Ross, a well-known insurance agent, was complainant against Oliver J. Speed in an assault charge. J. S. Brandon appeared for the private prosecution. The defendant pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Ross stated that Speed had taken a policy out for $2,000, on which the premium was $54. He paid $9 and gave four notes for $12.45 each, payable a month apart, the first on August 2. This was not met on Monday, and Mrs. Speed stated to him that she knew nothing about it, and had not been left any money to meet it. On Thursday he was handed a letter by her and that evening he went to the house to see Speed. The latter came round from behind the house, declared that he was a Canadian, and began to strike witness about the chest.

Speed took the ground that he had a right to put Ross off his premises, but his own evidence showed that he had struck him before he ordered him to leave. He was asked why he made the remark that he was a Canadian, and he answered that every time he got into a fight he said that.

"If you want to fight you had better get into a uniform," remarked the magistrate.

Speed alleged that he had changed his mind about taking the policy on Tuesday, but he was shown the letter he had written on Thursday, in which he expressed regret that he could not meet the note, but would let Mr. Ross know when he could do so. He told the city prosecutor that he did not consider this was a deceitful letter, taken in connection with his assertion that two days before he had decided not to take the policy. The defendant gave his story in a somewhat excitable manner.

The court told him that he had acted in a very inconsistent manner. He had taken a policy, signed notes, had not met the one due, had written a very apologetic letter, and now claimed that he had changed his mind about the policy.

A fine of $10 was imposed and paid.

SOCCER FINAL WILL BE PLAYED THIS WEEK

Montreal, Aug. 9.—The Connaught soccer football game Saturday in Montreal between the Grand Trunks of Montreal and the Lancashires of Toronto saw the play end in a tie of one goal each. Of the two games played between the two teams, the Toronto men have scored four goals and the Montreal team one, so that the former will meet the Winnipeg team in Toronto on Wednesday evening, August 11. The winners of that game will hold the cup, emblematic of the Canadian title for next year.

Winnipeg, Aug. 9.—Winnipeg Scottish won the second game from Fort William in the Connaught cup series by the score of 2 to 1.

THROWN FROM CYCLE ON MALAHAT DRIVE

Everett Logan Sustains Accident This Morning; Fireman is Injured

Everett E. Logan, 1114 Ormond St., a B. C. Electric railway car repairer, met with a nasty accident on the Malahat road this forenoon and is now at his home.

He had been at Cowichan over Sunday, and was coming home on his motor cycle. The drive-chain broke while he was coming down one of the hills and near a bad turn in the road, and whipped about among the pedals. The brake failed to work, and the chain, becoming tangled in the wheels, caused the cycle to stop suddenly, and Logan was pitched forward on his head.

R. J. Gibbs came along a few minutes after and attended to Logan as best he could, and S. A. Baird, who was coming into town in his car, took the man in, and made him as comfortable as he could on the journey, bringing him to the police station. There Logan was attended to by Jailer Hall and later by Dr. Kenning, who put three stitches in his scalp. His legs are badly bruised from the fall and the threshing they got from the loose chain, and he has a bad black eye. There were indications this afternoon that he might have sustained a slight concussion of the brain. Dr. Kenning took him home.

Shortly before 11 o'clock to-day John Evans, 1716 King's road, while working in the manual training building at the central school, fell from a step-ladder and was considerably bruised about the sides and ribs. The police ambulance went out with Constable Littlefield and Driver Calwell and brought him to the station, where the first aid they had given him was supplemented by the attentions of Dr. Lennox. The ambulance took him to his home.

Driver Frederick Waterson, of the Dunedin street fire hall, was badly hurt on Saturday afternoon while responding to a call. He was driving a heavy combination hose wagon, and in turning from Government to Bay streets the apparatus skidded on the slope of the street and crashed into a pole. Waterson stuck to the steering wheel and had a foot caught and crushed, while Hoseman Russell, who was with him, was able to jump clear.

Russell and Constable Simmons, who went out in the police ambulance, did what they could to ease the pain and brought him back to the fire hall, where Dr. Fraser attended to him. They found that no bones were broken, but the foot is badly sprained. To-day Waterson was a little easier, but the foot is still causing him great pain.

A tradesman in a certain town put a box outside his shop one day, labelled "For the Blind." Most of his customers dropped in pennies and complimented him on his charity. A few weeks after the box disappeared. "Hallo! what's happened to your box for the blind?" he was asked. "Oh, I got enough money," he replied. "And," pointing upward to the new canvas blind that sheltered his shop window, "there's the blind. Not bad, is it?"

A prosperous farmer invited a number of slum children to visit his farm, and to each of them was given a glass of new milk. "Well, boys, how do you like it?" the farmer asked when they had drained their glasses. "Fine," said one little fellow. Then, after a pause, he added, "I wish out mikman kep' a cow!"

Dyer—"Roynder wishes now that he hadn't married a widow." Ryer—"Why?" Dyer—"He can't use any of the old excuses for coming home late."

MUST BE DECIDED AT NEXT SESSION

Question as to Whether Life of Parliament Will Be Extended

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—The following appeared in the news columns of the Ottawa Citizen this morning:

"The revival of political speculation as a result of the Manitoba provincial elections is drawing general attention to the fact that in a short time the present parliament will enter upon its last session. It already has held five and will hold a sixth. This will be the last unless there is extension of the usual parliamentary term, as has been suggested by those who oppose the holding of a general election before the end of the war.

"Such a course was advocated by the opposition last session and the coming session of parliament may see it given an opportunity to show the genuineness of its support of the policy of extension of the term for the government, even if it desires such an extension, would not force its adoption against the wish of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. At any rate there are only two alternatives, extension or election, and with the coming session will rest the decision as to which it is to be.

"A factor, which it is urged, would render any extension necessary for a considerable period, is the fact that conditions immediately following the war would be almost equally unfavorable for an election. The Dominion will require almost a year to bring its 100,000 or 200,000 men home from Europe, provide for their future and readjust the financial and industrial life of the country to the new conditions certain to prevail. Recent developments connected with the visit of Sir Robert Borden to the old country also have made it evident that after the war there will be almost a complete change in the Dominion's position in the empire, and that its statesmen will be called into imperial councils. Altogether, the two years succeeding the declaration of peace will be a period of financial, sociological and industrial reorganization, and as such will not be a time for a general election, if a general election is as disturbing an influence to the country as generally is understood. Whatever action is taken, the next session of parliament will decide the issue."

THREE HAVE DECLINED OKUMA'S INVITATION

Tokio, Aug. 9.—The reconstructed Japanese cabinet, headed by Count Okuma, will be installed to-morrow.

The newspapers report that Count Okuma is having difficulty in finding a foreign minister to take the place of Takaaki Kato. According to the Kokumin Shimbun, Baron Motono, the ambassador at Petrograd; Viscount Chinda, the ambassador at Washington, and Count Inouye, the ambassador at London, have declined to accept the portfolio of foreign affairs.

SECRETARY M'ADOO IN NEW YORK TO-DAY

New York, Aug. 9.—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, went to Wall street to-day to discuss with bankers, it was reported, the financing of the administration's plan for building up Mexico. Mr. McAdoo conferred here yesterday with Secretary of State Lansing concerning the Mexican situation and other matters.

A VERY RICH FIND SAYS SEATTLE BANKER

Seattle, Aug. 9.—What is believed by J. E. Chilberg, prominent banker of Seattle, to be the biggest zone of lead, silver, zinc and copper ore ever found has been discovered on the Stikine river, forty miles below Telegraph Creek, in Northern British Columbia.

Mr. Chilberg, who has just returned from the find, says the contact is exposed for miles and may reach from British Columbia to Lynn Canal, Alaska.

FEARS FOR HIS LIFE.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Consul Canada, at Vera Cruz, cabled the state department to-day that Henry W. Francis, a newspaper man, had been in prison "incommunicado" there for three days and was removed to the penitentiary to-day. Francis, the message said, thinks his life is in danger and that drastic action is necessary to save him.

CLAIM THAT PRAGA HAS BEEN OCCUPIED

Germans Allege "A Few Thousand Prisoners Were Taken in Warsaw"

Berlin, Aug. 9.—It is alleged in the official statement issued to-day that Praga, the suburb of Warsaw on the eastern bank of the Vistula, has been occupied by German troops.

The text of the statement follows:

"In the western theatre—A battle developed at daybreak near Hooge, east of Ypres.

"In the Argonne forest French advances failed.

"Yesterday French aeroplanes were brought down at Dammerkirch and near Black Lake, while early to-day aeroplanes were shot down by our battle aeroplanes near Ypres, Gondrexange and at Harboney. The two latter aeroplanes belonged to a squadron which previously had dropped bombs on the open town of Saarbruecken, which is situated outside the zone of operations, without doing military damage and but slightly injuring a few civilians.

"In the eastern theatre—Attacking troops before Kovno have pushed forward closer to the fortress. Four hundred and thirty Russians, including three officers, have been taken prisoners, and eight machine guns captured.

"We also have made progress against the northern and western fronts of Lomza. In the fierce fighting which accompanied these operations two officers and 1,400 men were taken prisoners, while seven machine guns and an armored motor car were captured.

"South of Lomza the Ostroy-Wyszkow high road was crossed and the Russians, who in certain places offered stubborn resistance, were driven off.

"Novo Georgievsk also has been cut off in the east between the Narew and Vistula rivers.

"Praga, opposite Warsaw, has been captured and our troops are advancing further towards the east.

"In Warsaw a few thousand prisoners were taken.

"In the southeastern theatre—The army of General von Woyrsch has crossed the Garwolin-Kurow high road, northeast of Ivangorod.

"During pursuit of a left wing army group, Field-Marshal von Mackenzen forced the Russians back across the Wehr. The centre and right wings are approaching the line of Ostrov-Gans-Kuchrusk, on the Bug."

WILL MEET WEDNESDAY TO DISCUSS MEXICO

Washington, Aug. 9.—With the conference between Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats over the Mexican situation set for Wednesday, administration officials to-day again turned their efforts toward the completion of a new appeal to the factional leaders which will embody a plan for permanent peace, and will go forward with the approval and backing of the six governments participating in the conference. A tentative draft of the appeal already has been sent to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H.

Secretary Lansing, following his return from New York, where he conferred yesterday with Secretary McAdoo, said that plans for financing a Mexican government had not been considered.

FOUR HUNDRED MEXICANS CROSSED INTO STATES

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 9.—Five Mexican bandits and one Mexican woman were killed in the fighting yesterday at Norias, seven miles north of here. For an hour fifteen Americans, eight of them United States cavalrymen, stood off the attack of sixty Mexicans. Five of the Americans were wounded, three of them soldiers. These fifteen Americans were saved from death by the arrival of seventeen Texas Rangers just as their ammunition gave out.

It is reported that four hundred Mexicans crossed the border into Hidalgo county, Texas, in small parties, and apparently are making their way to a concentration point.

BOARD OF TRADE'S FIGURES FOR JULY

London, Aug. 9.—The board of trade's figures for the month of July show an increase of £16,171,663 in imports. The principal increases were in food and metals.

The exports show a decrease of £34,721,511, chiefly in coal, yarns, textiles and machinery.

The imports from the United States in the half-year ending July 30 amounted in round figures to £124,000,000. In the same period a year ago the imports reached £70,000,000, while the year before they totalled £69,000,000.

Exports for July, as shown by the returns, are the largest recorded since the war broke out. An interesting item in the exports, which is the direct result of the blockade against German trade, is the increase of nearly $2,500,000 in chemicals, drugs, dyes and colors.

UMPIRE INJURED.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Umpire E. C. Quigley was injured seriously this afternoon by an explosion of gas in the stove of the ticket office of the National League park. He was inflating his breast protector when the accident occurred. He was burned badly and taken unconscious to a nearby hospital.

The patient recovered consciousness later and it was stated that while painful, his injuries were not serious.

Hank O'Day, reappointed an umpire yesterday, umpired the game alone to-day.

British Advanced on Front of 1,200 Yards

London, Aug. 9.—Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France and Belgium, reports that the lost trenches at Hooge, east of Ypres, in Belgium, have been retaken by the British troops, and that they have advanced on a front of 1,200 yards.

MACHINISTS DESIRE INCREASE IN WAGES

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 9.—Employees of the Locomobile Company of America, were ready to-day to make formal demand for an eight-hour day, with time and a half for overtime work. This was in line with the decision reached Saturday night when 800 workmen, by almost unanimous vote, rejected the bonus proposition made by the concern.

A new feature in the situation to-day was a statement from labor sources that machinists employed by the American & British Manufacturing Company and the Lake Torpedo Boat Company would make a demand for an increase of 20 per cent. in wages. Both of these plants are on an eight-hour basis as they have filled contracts for the United States government.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT HAS NOT BEEN INFORMED

London, Aug. 9.—The British government has received no official report of Germany's rumored peace proposal to Russia.

Official circles neither confirm nor deny the report, holding that if true, the proposal probably is in such a tentative form that it would not be incumbent on Russia formally to communicate it to the allies.

Copenhagen, Aug. 9.—Persons in close touch with court conditions here declare that they know nothing regarding the peace offer said to have been made by the German emperor to the emperor of Russia through the king of Denmark. The reported proposal was said to have involved the trade of Galicia for a part of Poland.

ARE PLEASED WITH WORK BEING DONE IN CANADA

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—D. A. Thomas, General Mahon and R. D. Carr, representing in Canada Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, minister of munitions in the Imperial government, returned from a trip of inspection of Canadian munition factories in Montreal and the maritime provinces and left for New York to-day. The British representatives express themselves as highly satisfied with the work being done by the Canadian firms and with their capacity for turning out shells and explosives. It is expected that the party will commence its tour of inspection of Ontario factories on Thursday next, and after that is finished will proceed westward.

HUGE WHEAT CROP IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Aug. 9.—American farmers are harvesting the greatest wheat crop ever grown in any one country. It may reach a billion bushels. Experts of the department of agriculture to-day estimated the crop at 966,000,000 bushels, basing their calculations on the condition of the crop August 1. Bumper harvests of other cereals and food crops are indicated. The condition of spring wheat was 93.4. Corn was 79.5. The estimated corn production was 2,918,000,000 bushels.

The department of agriculture's August grain report, issued to-day, estimates the production of the country's leading crops as follows: Winter wheat, 659,000,000; spring wheat, 307,000,000; all wheat, 966,000,000.

Corn 2,918,000,000; oats, 1,402,000,000; barley, 217,000,000; rye 44,000,000.

AT LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Aug. 9.—Opening the sixty-first annual convention of the International Typographical Union, delegates assembled here to-day in the first international labor convention ever held in Los Angeles.

W. A. Snyder announced that the gross earnings of the members of the I. T. U. during the financial year ending May 31, 1914, were $61,155,285. He said that despite the war the earnings showed an increase of $104,493 over the previous year.

GOING TO RIGA.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—Refugees from Courland continue to pour into Riga by the thousands and the fields outside the town are filled with herds of cattle and droves of horses that have been rescued from the German invaders of the province. As far as possible huts and tents have been provided for the refugees.

DECLARED BANKRUPT.

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—The Continental Building & Loan Association, which has been in process of liquidation for two years, was declared bankrupt to-day by Judge Frank S. Dietrich, of the United States district court of Idaho, sitting temporarily.

WESTERN TOURNEY.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Heath Byford's 6-3, 6-4 victory over M. G. Ketcham in the fifth round of the western tennis tournament recorded to-day, placed him in the semi-finals and reduced the field for the singles championship to five.

Byford will next meet the winner of the fifth round match between C. H. Hill and Rader, which was to be played today while the contest for the doubles championship is being played between Byford and Squair and Hayes and Burdick. In the upper half of the singles G. M. Church, the Princeton player, was to meet Hayes in the semi-finals.

WILL NOT ACCEPT FORTUNE OF MILLIONS

Pittsburg Priest Will Give It to Poor Relatives; Instructs Lawyers

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Believing his advanced age and an occasional attack of rheumatism would make impossible judicious handling of great wealth, Rev. William Graham, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, has declined to accept a fortune of from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 left him recently through the death of relatives in Sydney, Australia, and Bolivia, South America.

"I have no desire to add to my burdens a lot of wealth that would bring me no satisfaction," said Father Graham. "I am by no means rich, but I have enough worldly goods for my physical needs and besides I am nearly 60 years old. Why, should a rheumatic old man like me chose to spend the rest of his days on earth under the weight of so much money? Give it to my poor relatives who need it."

Father Graham directed attorneys to get into communication with the heirs next in line.

WAS ARRESTED IN LONDON; DEPORTED

London, Aug. 9.—Maria Cecilia Natalie Janotha, court pianist to Emperor William, was arrested in London to-day and deported from Tilbury.

Maria Janotha holds membership in many academies of art in Great Britain, Italy and Austria. She received the Victoria Badge from Queen Victoria and holds the highest honorary diploma from the St. Cecilia Royal Academy in Rome. She edited Lady Tennyson's songs and translated Chopin's greater works. She was the recipient of many decorations, including one from the German empress.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Aug. 9.—Favorable weather conditions in the Canadian west and reports of an improvement in the weather south caused lower prices on the grain market to-day. The decline for the day on wheat was 1½ to 1¾. Oats were lower at opening and were easier later. Flax was quiet and only a few transactions were recorded at easier values than Saturday's closing prices. The demand for cash wheat, numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4 grades, was good and offerings were less daily. There was no inquiry for oats, while there was a limited inquiry for barley and flax. The buyers of wheat were exporters principally.

Winnipeg wheat futures closed ¼ to ½ lower; cash wheat closed ½ to 1c. higher; oats closed ½ lower, flax 2c. down.

Minneapolis closed 1 to 1¼ lower and Chicago ½ to ¾ lower. The total number of inspections on Saturday was 41 cars as against 165 last year. The weather has been warm all over the west.

COUNTRY OFFERINGS INCREASING IN WHEAT

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Northwestern weather was most favorable. Rust still was in evidence, but it is claimed now that it is too late to do much damage. Country offerings, while not heavy, are gradually increasing. Harvesting is on in full blast over much of the winter wheat territory and a fair movement is expected this week.

Cutting in the northwest states no doubt will begin by the middle of August. Cables from abroad show a continuation of unfavorable weather with prices firm and of an advancing tendency. Taking the situation as a whole, a six hundred million crop of winter wheat will allow for about all of Europe's as well as the domestic needs. There was free selling to-day by influential elevator interests and covering by timid shorts at the end.

SLOCAN STAR ABSORBS ATTENTION LOCALLY

Motives in List Generally Were Quiet but Steady

The local list betrayed continued underlying strength, but was indisposed to higher levels. In fact, price changes were of no particular consequence for the session and finished quiet.

Buying motives attached to the selfsame issues that last week led in interest, but the tendency was to bid the market up gradually in an investment way. Absence of speculative doings in Lucky Jim has tended to curb bullish excitement in that and like issues, although it has been obvious of late that some genuine accumulation has been under way in Lucky Jim, Standard Lead and Granby. Slocan Star is straightening up and this morning absorbed good attention.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—To-day's market was comparatively active, with Dominion Bridge again in evidence. It advanced steadily to 141, a gain of 3 points. Steel of Canada also was much in demand, closing at 34, a gain of 2 points. Scotia was active at slightly advanced prices. Ames-Holden was quite extensively traded in around 16. The less active stocks were steady at unchanged prices. The undertone was good and offerings were absorbed easily.

DISTRIBUTION IN WAR STOCKS IS WITNESSED

Rails Are in Favor in Wall Street and Stocks Act Well

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

New York, Aug. 9.—The market experienced reactionary tendencies, not unnatural in view of the substantial influences which have been recorded during the past period. On the declines stocks appeared to be well taken and the tone of the market at the close was steady. The tendency to favor rails is becoming more pronounced daily, and at the same time signs are not lacking of distribution in many war orders issues.

GOOD WEATHER IS AIDING PAVING WORK

Hurrying to Open Part of Saanich Main Road; Question of Jurisdiction

While the progress on the first section of the Saanich road paving has been excellent recently, and a considerable portion is already finished, the people residing in the district from Royal Oak to Saanichton are getting anxious for a start on the east road. There will be considerable grading to be done in some places, as parts of the road actually traveled have never been the necessary sixteen feet wide, which will be the case now with the paving. It is, however, the intention of the engineering department to go ahead with this section as soon as possible, because the case for a government contribution will be greatly emphasized by the whole of the main road being commenced. It was always understood that the trunk thoroughfare to Sidney would first receive attention in the general paving scheme, and this central idea will be maintained throughout.

The stretch of road from the junction of the Saanich road to Royal Oak, however, is badly needed to be reopened for traffic. This section being in the contractors' hands two of three main roads to the point where the east and west roads fork are entirely closed to traffic from town. The rifle range at Heals which will be wanted for training purposes as soon as the militia department is ready, and the heavy traffic to the observatory, are both factors which make the uniting up of the sections now in process of paving a matter of necessity to the district. Hence every effort will be made to reopen the portion named. When it is finished, there is no doubt that it will be frequented as one of the most attractive motor trips around Victoria.

The paving to Royal Oak is being made eighteen feet wide, which is equal to any of the needs of the peninsula. The ollerete section from the municipal hall to St. Michael's church is also the same width, and this portion is almost ready for traffic. There will then be one about a mile of macadam before the junction of the mountain road leading up to the observatory is reached from the city.

The repair of the Craigflower bridge, of which notice is given in the press, raises an interesting point concerning provincial and municipal control. The bridge having been built by the province, and forming an integral part of the main island highway, it is to be repaired by the government, although the bridge now is partially in Saanich territory.

The municipality having disclaimed any responsibility, the provincial authorities are rightly undertaking the work. The same point has recently arisen with regard to the Gorge bridge, which was also constructed by the government, before the municipalities on either side were incorporated. A recent accident on the northern portion of the bridge has brought the matter up. The Saanich authorities have in this case also declined to take any action, holding that as the bridge has not been repaired by them, the only people who are responsible are those who constructed it.

TELLS OF LOCAL BOYS

Letter From Pte. N. E. Saddler, to Y. M. C. A. Staff, Mentions Victoria Men in Firing-Line.

A letter has been received by the staff of the Victoria Y. M. C. A. from Pte. N. E. Saddler, of No. 2 company, 15th battalion, C. E. F., who went from Victoria to the fighting-line, telling something of the Y. M. C. A. boys who have been fighting in the trenches.

Harry Maxwell is now in the same billet that I am. He is well, but looks much older. I've lost track of Burns, Erwin and Pearce. The boys are never downhearted. . . . I heard that Tom Jones was killed."

The letter continues in part:

"The Y. M. C. A. is doing good work out here, even if it is only distributing papers and writing paper. I have not been near enough their headquarters to pay them a visit in the name of Victoria yet. As the billets are often some distance away, it makes it hard to go there so often, so the best they can do is to drive around from billet to billet with a transport limber, and give out this paper. There is always a crowd gathers round, and the stock soon runs out. . . . It is a fertile country, and also pretty. The farmers go on with their work while the shells whistle overhead, and aeroplanes buzz around and are shot at, but very, very seldom hit. I watched one of ours to-day flying around while the Germans fired about fifty shots at it, which exploded anywhere from 200 yards to half a mile away. . . . The officers played a game of cricket this afternoon, and Nos. 2 and 4 companies play a game of football tonight. There is a sing-song nearly every night, so you see there is a big desire for recreation."

"Can I believe my eyes!" exclaimed Mr. Timkins as he confronted the burglar. Mr. Timkins had been sent down in the middle of the night to investigate a strange noise, which proved to be the family silver in process of packing up. The burglar reached for his gun, but Mr. Timkins grabbed the hand instead. "Don't," he said, giving the hand a cordial shake. "You don't know how much I'm interested in you. Stay awhile. I want you to meet Mrs. Timkins." "While you're calling a cop! Not on your life," retorted the burglar. "No," said Mr. Timkins. "I just want you to stay while I call my wife. She's heard you at work every night for twenty years, and this is the first chance she's ever had to see you."

CANDIDATE BOASTS OF REDUCED PLANS

Conservative in Prince George Gets New School Cut Down in Size

It is frequently enough that one finds a government candidate in an election claiming that he has been able to secure this, that, or the other public work, but it is rather a novelty to find a candidate making the claim that he has succeeded in getting a smaller public work executed than has been desired by the people.

This, however, is the case in Prince George, where A. G. Hamilton, the Conservative candidate for the Fort George seat, is taking great credit to himself for having the plans for a six-roomed school in the west end of the new city cut down to four rooms. As a result of his activity, whatever the motive of his opposition to the larger plan, the city will have to put up with a small building in a growing section, and will have to do without high school facilities for another year, at least.

When Mayor Gillett, who defeated the Tory machine so decisively in the city's first election last spring, came to the capital soon after his election on matters connected with the progress of Prince George, he took up the matter of the proposed new school among other things with the provincial government, and convinced the department of education that a six-roomed school should be erected in the west end, wherein high school subjects could be taught.

As soon as the news was wired to Prince George of the mayor's success Mr. Hamilton got busy in opposition to the plans for the larger building, and came here specially to see about it. On his return he boasted that he had had the plans changed, and that a four-roomed school was to be built. That his boast was no idle one was proven the other day, when the department of public works called for tenders for the smaller structure.

In Prince George Mr. Hamilton and his supporters are claiming that a four-roomed building is large enough for the town, and are making other excuses in an endeavor to justify the candidate's unpopular action. Mayor Gillett has taken the matter up with the government, but so far has not received any reply to his further representations that no reduction should be made in the size of the building.

BARBERS' HOURS.

To the Editor.—Regarding the barbers' early closing petition which is to come before the city council Monday night, I wish to make a few remarks on the negative side, and also offer a simple suggestion.

Should the operations of the tonsorial art be restricted to the time limits set forth in the petition, then it would nearly be compulsory for every citizen who is employed in the business centre of the city to patronize a barber shop in that neighborhood. It would be practically impossible for him to get home after 6 o'clock, dine and visit the barber shop in his own vicinity by 7.30, no matter how much he wished to. Consequently the little businesses that have been worked up by energetic barbers who desire to have their own shops, would be wiped out as clean and positive as will be the sauer-kraut navy should it ever protrude its ugly sausage smeared visage within range of the guns of the British fleet.

Also such a by-law as is asked for would undoubtedly add to two evils, of which we have now an overplus, namely, unemployment and vacant buildings. The small barber would be out of work and his erstwhile shop would bear the glaring insignia that is becoming altogether too prevalent in our city, viz., to let.

Furthermore, Victoria is a tourist city. Travellers arrive and depart early and late. After a day or two on a train or boat one's first desire is the services of a barber. No man can feel at ease in decent society if his appearance is unkempt. Must the visitor be doomed to deny himself the pleasure of mingling with those whom he would like to because it is illegal to get a shave? If the petitioners wish to close at 7.30 p.m. that is absolutely and individually their own affair. It is ridiculous that I who conduct a legitimate enterprise should be compelled to do likewise and thereby become extinct in a business way.

I have, however, a proposition to make that I believe should interest every patriotically inclined tonsorialist in our fair city. It is this: That all unmarried barbers who are physically fit shall join the colors. There is a big demand for their services. They will get better money than an ordinary soldier, and above all they will have something on their minds to think about that is really worth while. Then we who are married or otherwise incapable of putting up a reliable scrap can, if needs be, have a much better chance of locating a job, which in the event of early closing becoming law will be imperative.

A. J. SHANKS.
1281 Fairfield road, Aug. 7, 1915.

"There are things more valuable than money," ruminated the philosopher. "Sure," retorted the iconoclast. "That's the reason I need money to buy them."

CLERGYMAN'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Dying Statement Showed Victim Disinclined to Prosecute; Strange Circumstances

The coroner's jury in Vancouver on Saturday was convinced from the evidence offered that Rev. Harper Colville John Nixon, of Twin Island, B. C., had come to his death as a result of being accidentally shot by some person or persons unknown. Mr. Nixon died at Vancouver General hospital on August 5, but the injury was inflicted on July 6.

Rev. Mr. Nixon was lying on his berth in his launch, off Twin Island, on the evening of July 6 when he was for a moment rendered unconscious by something piercing his jaw. When he came to, he found that part of his jaw was torn away. He managed to make the shore and get help and was brought to Vancouver. While lying reading he had been smoking a large-bowled pipe and he thought perhaps a percussion cap, of which he had a supply, had got into the bowl and exploded. The provincial police, however, found the bowl of the pipe intact, though the stem was cut away. They also found where a bullet had grazed the edge of the port hole, had broken the man's jaw, punctured the pillow and had then lodged in the woodwork in the opposite side of the cabin. The theory is that it was the work of some pit lamp hunter who mistook the lights of the launch, lying in the water, for the reflection from the eyes of a deer. Mr. Nixon had resided at Twin Island for many years. While he had taken holy orders in compliance with the will of a relative in order to inherit an estate, he never served in the church.

In his final statement made on his deathbed, Rev. Mr. Nixon wrote that he was convinced that he was the victim of an accident at the hands of a pitlamper who had mistaken the double light of his lamp for the eyes of a deer, and that had he lived and learned who fired the shot he would have refused to lay an information or prosecute a charge.

A plan showing that the craft lay but eighty yards from shore at the time of the shooting, and the report of Provincial Constable Marshall of Van Anda, together with the dying statement of the deceased, read by Chief of Police Thomas Smith, comprised the major portion of the evidence.

None of the relatives were present at the inquest, but H. T. Devine, who arrived before the proceedings were over, stated that he had superintended the drawing up of the deceased's will while he lay at the hospital and was representing the relatives. The deceased was possessed of very considerable property, most of which passes to a son.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Data on Results Being Collected at Chicago by Committee.

A letter will be before the city council this evening in which will be stated the objects of a committee of inquiry appointed by the Chicago city council to obtain data on municipal ownership. The following are the objects:

The various systems of public ownership operation, partnership or other like plans of municipalization employed in cities.

The problems encountered and results achieved by municipal ownership, including the legal and financial difficulties met by cities in endeavoring to municipalize their public utilities.

The cost and quality of service rendered by municipal public utilities.

The wages and working conditions of employees in municipal public service enterprises.

The means of improving and extending the service rendered to the public in municipal plants.

The liability to interruptions of the service given to the public by municipal plants by reason of strikes, lockouts, or other means.

The extent to which municipal ownership and operation of public utilities affects the public interest in and attachment and loyalty to the government as against private ownership.

Great Preparations Being Made at Port Angeles for the Georgian Circuit Dedication.

The Georgian circuit dedication next Saturday is to be attended by all the prominent municipal people in the northwest. Invitations have been sent to each city interested, and from Victoria there is to be sent the Princess Adelaide to carry the excursionists who will take the afternoon run to Port Angeles. Great preparations are being made across the water for the entertainment of the visitors.

Aside from the ceremony at Port Angeles, which will inaugurate the new automobile circuit, those in charge of the proceedings from this end are making the trip very attractive. The C. P. R. steamer will leave here at 1.15 o'clock, and will make a two-hour run across the straits, getting to Port Angeles in time for the function in the afternoon. The homeward trip will begin at 8 o'clock, and there is to be dancing and a vocal programme on board. The return fare is $1.00.

The excursion is being run under the auspices of the Victoria and Island Development association, the Island Automobile association and the Rotary club.

Many a Business Man who is careful to protect himself in money matters, is careless about health—his most valuable asset.

For many, tea or coffee drinking silently undermines health, because each cup contains from 1½ to 3 grains of the cumulative, harmful drug, caffeine.

Five or six grains of caffeine will kill a rabbit or a cat, and repeated daily will cripple a man.

How cripple a man? The caffeine, little by little, causes hardening of the arteries and premature old age, showing more in some men than in others.

Some of the symptoms of caffeine poisoning are headache, nervousness, biliousness, heart flutter, sleeplessness at night, and "fag" after reaction of the drug in the daytime.

The way to avoid all tea and coffee troubles is to leave both tea and coffee alone and use

DEATH SUMMONS A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN

Mrs. Landsberg Passes Away at Family Home After Protracted Illness

After a protracted illness which had kept her confined to the house for the past two years, Mrs. Landsberg, wife of Frederick Landsberg, manager of the Empire Realty company, passed away this morning at 3 o'clock, at the family home, 106 Medina street. Although Mrs. Landsberg had been seriously ill for so long a time, this in no way lessens the very widespread regret which the news of her demise will bring, as she was a woman of generous impulses and activities, and as long as she had the strength gave her time unsparingly to philanthropic and social activities which won her friends far and wide. To the bereaved husband and daughter the sympathy of an appreciative community is accorded.

The late Mrs. Landsberg was a native of Warsaw, Russian Poland, and was born thirty-nine years ago. She came to the Pacific coast in December, 1894, to visit her brother, H. Marymont, now living in Oakland, Cal., and in May the following year was married to Mr. Landsberg, making her home in Victoria ever since. For the past six years the family has lived at the residence on Medina street, two years before the change of residence, however, Mrs. Landsberg returning to Russia to visit her parents in Warsaw. In 1911 she again returned for a visit to her old home, and in 1912, when the first symptoms of her fatal illness first became evident, she, accompanied by her husband, went to Europe to consult a specialist. On her return she was taken to Professor Newmark for treatment in a California sanitorium, and last July, after a year there, was brought back to Victoria.

There were few institutions devoted to charitable or philanthropic works which did not have her support and personal help at one time or another. For some years she was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee hospital, she always took a keen interest in the welfare of the Orphanal Home, and when the new wing was added to the Old Ladies' home about four years ago she furnished one of the rooms, which has been much admired for the taste displayed in the appointments.

Besides her husband and daughter, both living here, the deceased lady is survived by three brothers on the Pacific coast: H. Marymont, living in Oakland, Cal.; Emery Marymont, of Reno, Nev., and J. Marymont, of San Francisco. Her mother, now in her seventy-fifth year, and three sisters, lived, when last heard from, in Warsaw, now being evacuated by the Russians.

Pending word from her relatives in California no arrangements have yet been made with respect to the funeral.

SMALL BOND FOR JITNEY DRIVERS

Proposals of By-law to Be Introduced To-night; Capacity of Cars Limited

The amendment of the Hired Vehicles Consolidated by-law, which is being introduced into city council this evening by Alderman McNeill, will be modelled on the Vancouver city by-law, and the regulations of the local Jitney association, the object being to control jitney traffic.

It will provide for a bond as security, graded according to the capacity of the cars, $300, $500, and $700, depending on five, seven, and more than seven passengers in capacity. This figure is defined at a lower scale than is established on the mainland.

The limits set to the capacity of the cars will be the same as those which prevail in Vancouver, and will be divided into three classes. The amendment would also provide against any fares being collected while the car is in motion.

These three rules will be the principal ones adopted. The other regulations are those already approved by the local association, and observed by its members, but which have no force legally. That power it is proposed by the by-law to establish as a definite factor in the control of the traffic.

After the introduction of the by-law, it will be suggested to refer it to a committee of the council to take up with the Jitney association, and pass through as an unopposed measure.

The situation to-day apparently under the existing by-law is that jitneys have no legal right to ply on the streets without standing at the prescribed points defined in the Hired Vechicles by-law, and the passage of a measure like this one would set at rest the ambiguity which undoubtedly exists.

Alderman McNeill, who from the first has consistently supported the proposal to regulate the traffic, which is now nearly ten months' old in this city, declares that nothing will be found in the by-law which can be interpreted as a check on a legitimate enterprise, but that it is rather recognition of a form of transportation which is new to British Columbia.

SOME IMPRESSIONS OF MODERN JAPAN

Visitor Thinks Japanese Sentiment is Changing Under Influence of War

The attitude of the Occidental and the Oriental mind to questions of life is one of the most interesting studies of psychology. Hence it is that the first question directed to those who have lived in the Orient for a considerable period is usually to ascertain what the individual experience in this regard has been.

Among the guests at the Empress hotel now are Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Turner, who arrived Saturday from the south. Mr. Turner is the manager of the branch of the Hongkong and Shanghai bank at Nagasaki. He has lived for years in various cities in the Orient, and for the last two years has been at the Japanese port.

"Experience has shown," he says, "that the Chinese trader can be entrusted completely with regard to business dealings. He is first and foremost a commercial man, and trade to him comes as second nature. With the Japanese you have a different set of conditions. The commercial class in Japan under the feudal system was among the lowest, and chicanery and trickery were natural. When the business man begun to take his position in the nation, something of the old spirit clung to him, and this is the reason why the European living in the Orient is taught caution in dealing with Japanese. My own experience with the Japanese has been of such a nature as not to lead to any apprehension.

"In Japan to-day it seems a little strange to find the German merchants doing business, in spite of the state of war between Japan and Germany. Unless the individual Germans made themselves a nuisance they have not been requested to leave, and their business is unchecked. There is a strong sentiment in Japan favorable to Germany, particularly in the army, and the legal and medical professions. Many of the army officers are trained in Germany, and the doctors and lawyers have been trained in the universities and hospitals of Germany to a very large extent.

"The occupation of Tsing Tao was, in my judgment, a matter of political expediency rather than popular approval. It cost Japan a lot of money to take the territory, and Japanese finances at this time are very low.

"The trouble over the customs at Tsing Tao with the Chinese appear to have expedited the pressure which was brought to bear on China. Japan had her opportunity, and she did what the European powers have done in the past, making her nominal position in China a recognized one. The only powers that could control the diplomatic move were otherwise engaged, and Japan is now secure. The Japanese are very anxious to have a field for commercial expansion, and as the avenues are limited, those available had to be seized.

"At present Japanese industries are very busy with the war orders for Russia. The drawing together of these two countries is incidentally one of the most curious features of the situation. The native firms are also taking the trade in cottons held by the Germans in the past. This is a lower class of textiles than the Manchester shipments, which are bought extensively throughout the Asiatic countries, and which are now passing into Japanese control. The reconstruction of the world after this war is over will doubtless see a great change in the nature of the Anglo-Japanese alliance."

Mr. Turner expressed the opinion that the attraction of this coast to the Japanese from the immigration standpoint lay in the high wages. A man married early in Japan, before he was out of college, and with a university degree at 25 or 26 was only able to earn a pittance in the employ of the native or foreign firms. An opportunity to better his condition took him abroad. The apprehension felt in some quarters of a Japanese peril on the Pacific coast is not shared by Mr. Turner, who points out that the Jap is a settler, while the Chinaman never intermingles.

BRICK ROADS.

For more than one hundred and fifty years brick has been used for paving in several of the principal towns of Holland, and since 1872 it has been extensively employed in America in country roads as well as in streets. Brick pavements of experimental character have been laid in Liverpool, Cheltenham, and Staffordshire, but the results attained were not considered altogether satisfactory. In the United States, the life is stated to be from fifteen to twenty years under ordinary conditions. Brick paving in various American cities has furnished valuable experience, showing the importance of good materials and workmanship. In places brick pavements have remained in perfect condition after twenty years of wear.

A local preacher, trying to illustrate the intensity of the gross darkness mentioned in the Scriptures, said: "My friends, you've been out on a dark night when you could hardly see your hand before you, and you've said how pitchy dark it is. Well, pitchy darkness be dark, and, my friends, you know what a gross is. If not, I'll tell you. A gross is twelve dozen; now you'll understand the darkness that covered people, for it was a hundred and forty-four times pitchy dark.

"I think your husband dresses so nicely and quietly." "Really? You should hear him when he loses a collar button!"

SOLDIERS AT FRONT WANT GOOD TOBACCO

Imperial Tobacco Company Has Excellent Scheme for Facilitating Shipment

The value of tobacco and cigarettes to the boys in the trenches has been demonstrated so frequently and so forcibly that the response to their call for the fragrant and soothing weed has been empire wide. There is, of course, a section of well-meaning people who regard smoking as a useless and wasteful habit, harmful in its effects, but this does not seem the time, so far as the soldier lads are concerned, to debate whether the genus nicotiana tabacum was meant only to be a spray for rosebushes. The fact is that the boys at the front are pleading for cigarettes and tobacco, and should have them.

No language," said one of them in a recent letter, "can describe the comfort resulting from a pipe when exposed to severe weather in the trenches, or the power it has to stay the stomach's crave when no food is to be had."

To facilitate the sending of tobacco and cigarettes to the trenches an excellent scheme has been formulated by the Imperial Tobacco Co., and is daily being taken advantage of by friends and relatives of the fighting men. Outlining the scheme to-day R. M. Shaw, Vancouver Island representative of the company, said:

"Anyone can send, duty free, to a soldier at the front, any one of three parcels, the price in each case being one dollar, which includes parcel post charges. The first parcel contains 200 Player's navy cut cigarettes; the second, 100 Player's cigarettes and half a pound of Will's capstan navy cut tobacco; the third parcel includes one pound of navy cut tobacco.

"The saving made in buying this way is obvious," added Mr. Shaw. "Any one of these parcels, purchased in the ordinary way, would cost the buyer $2, while the postage would mean another forty cents. On one parcel, therefore, $1.40 is saved, while the certainty of the addresses receiving the package is enhanced one hundred-fold by the forms which senders fill up, and which make easy the task of getting the parcels to the proper part of the firing line in the quickest possible time."

These packages can be obtained at local retailers, and the brands of cigarettes and tobacco contained in them are too well known and too universally popular for their quality to be questioned. In this connection it is interesting to note that several protests have been received recently from Canadian boys with regard to the quality of the tobacco they have been receiving. One letter which came to a local retailer this week from a member of the original draft from the 50th Highlanders which left this city reads thus:

"As a Victoria member of the 16th Canadian Scottish, I am writing to tell you one or two of our grievances with regard to smokes. We are issued every Sunday some rotten cigarettes, and believe me they certainly are of poor quality. A few real Player's navy cuts would be very much appreciated by all the boys. As Victorians we ask you to do us a great favor by sending us a few Players, addressed to O. C. Gordons, 16th Canadian Scottish, to be issued to the men."

GENEROUS SUPPORT TO MACHINE GUN FUNDS

Messrs. Grant Smith and McDonnell Employees Subscribe Handsomely

The machine gun fund movement continues to receive generous support from the public. The sum of $1,201.50 has been subscribed by the employees of Messrs. Grant Smith & Co. and McDonnell, Ltd., the contractors engaged on Victoria harbor improvements. The subscriptions have been given with generous spontaneity, and range from $10 to $100. This makes the third machine gun subscription which the employees of this firm of contractors has put up for the furnishing of three of the quick firing machines to be used by the Canadian soldiers at the front. The first amount was presented to a Vancouver fund, the second was given to a Victoria battalion quite recently, and now the third fund has been completed. All this is in addition to a transport outfit of mules, harness, etc., presented to the department of militia, and tent and other equipment given for use in the Vernon training camp.

The Vancouver police force, Chief of Police McLennan reported to the board of police commissioners last Tuesday, had contributed no less a sum than $1,565 for machine guns for the Canadian forces at the front. Kamloops Sentinel readers have now subscribed more than the cost of two guns, the fund on Saturday totalling $2,262.35; the Trail gun fund on Friday totalled $572; Rossland Miners' gun fund, the same day, $484, and Greenwood and district for guns for the 54th Kootenay-Boundary Battalion, $1,637.

A college professor who was always ready for a joke was asked by a student one day if he would like a good recipe for catching rabbits. "Why, yes," replied the professor. "What is it?" "Well, crouch down behind a thick stone wall and make a noise like a turnip." "That may be," said the professor with a twinkle in his eyes, "but a better way than that would be for you to go and sit quietly in a bed of cabbage heads and look natural."
